4 RED DIVISIONS CLAIMED READY IN SCANDINAVIA

Reported To Be Poised For Action Against Any Of Strategic Centers

By International News Service.

HELSINKI, March 30 — Soviet Russia's negotiations for a military agreement with Finland and her renewed pressure on Sweden are backed up by four crack motorized divisions.

They are poised for immediate action at Salla, in former northeast Finnish territory, on the main approach to every strategic harbor, industrial and mining area in northern Scandinavia.

This information has been given exclusively to International News Service by a highly-placed diplomatic expert in the service of one of the western Allies, who has reported formally to his government on the situation.

The Soviet divisions can be supported by aircraft from more than 200 airfields recently constructed over an area of some 200 miles between the Arctic port of Murmansk and Salla.

Lies On Main Road

Salla lies on the main road crossing north Finland. In Russia, it joins the arterial highway between Murmansk and Leningrad in the vicinity of Kandalaksja.

It continues westward through Finland to the important Bothnian gulf port of Kemi. There it crosses the Swedish border to that nation's most vital northern port of Lulea, continues through Boden, in the heart of Sweden's rich mining region, and on to Narvik, Norway, Atlantic port outlet for Sweden's iron ore.

In case of aggression, fast action on the part of the Soviet Union could paralyze Sweden's vast mining regions and bring under Soviet control all of northern Scandinavia's important ice-free ports on the North Atlantic.

Cut off from Norwegian governmental administration and reinforcements, the Arctic territory of Spitsbergen would fall automatically under Russian control.

Called For Joint Defense

The Soviet Union thought enough of the strategic military importance of this territory to request of Norway joint defense of the island.

Incidentally, minor roads connect the Salla road with Petsamo, the nickel mining region taken over by Russia in the extreme north of Finland.

From Lulea runs the main highway connecting north Sweden with the south. From Lulea, too, emerge the main railroads to south Sweden and to Narvik, Norway.

With this as background, one can understand why the Soviet Union considers it of vital importance to have military bases in northwest Finland close to the Norwegian-Swedish borders.

Political leaders in Finland expect such a demand to be one of the leading clauses in the Stalin-proposed mutual assistance pact.

POLICE SEARCH ASKED FOR 2 EAST END BOYS

Authorities in three states were asked today to seek two East End youths who left their homes Monday morning, believed headed for Tennessee.

Cecil McCormack, 441 Virginia Ave., reported the disappearance of his son, William McCormack, 14, and a friend Gail Stanley, 16, of Harker Ave.

Mr. McCormack said his son is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 140 pounds and has medium brown hair and white striped trousers and tan shoes, the father said.

The Stanley boy is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 140 pounds and was wearing a tan leather jacket and army shoes, police were told.

Eastern Ohio Contests Launched

Among Winners In Music Festival

DOVER 'DOOD' IT. This delegation of attractive young women warbled their way into a "superior" rating as the Eastern Ohio District music competitions got under way this morning in the Memorial Auditorium. Making up the vocal ensemble from Dover High School, the group includes, left to right, Donna Booth, Janet Smith, Joann Gopp, Susanna Lehr, Beverly Mason, Lynn Adkins, and Carol Espenschied in the front row, and Beverly Cochran, left, and Clara Tarulli in the rear.

THE SENIOR Harmonettes of East Liverpool High School and a girl's ensemble from Dover High School won "superior" ratings in the opening events today of the East Liverpool District vocal and instrumental solo and ensemble festival in the Memorial Auditorium.

The East Liverpool entry was directed by Lawrence Beck, supervisor of music in the local schools with Miss Hannah Turk as accompanist. L. H. Alexander directed the Dover ensemble.

Most of the 800 high school students entered for the festival arrived in the city before noon. Many of the contests, particularly the instrumental events, will take place this afternoon.

The contests are being held in the Memorial Auditorium, High School Auditorium, the First Church of Christ and the First Presbyterian Church. The contestants will assemble at 4:30 p. m. in the Memorial Auditorium when ratings will be announced and the awards made.

Groups and individuals rated as "superior" will be eligible to participate in the state competition April 9 and 10 at Ohio State University, Columbus.

WOMAN AND GIRL ILL FROM FUMES

Firemen Find Flue Clogged On Coke-Fired Furnace

An industrial nurse and her daughter had a narrow escape from asphyxiation Monday morning when a clogged flue filled their home with fumes, they reported to firemen Monday afternoon.

They are Mrs. Sylvia Wood and Sandra, 15, of 1219 St. Clair Ave., who are recuperating at their home from the fumes from a coke-burning furnace.

A nurse at Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co., Mrs. Wood said she awoke yesterday about 7 a. m. with a headache. When she began dressing, she became ill and fainted, but roused herself and went to work, she said. She left her daughter asleep.

Shortly after arriving at the plant, she again became ill. While resting, she received a call from her daughter about 8 a. m. that she was sick.

"I told her to open a window or try and get outside", Mrs. Wood said.

"I rushed home and found her lying on the front porch unconscious".

Opening the doors and windows in their home, Mrs. Wood then roused her daughter and put her to bed.

She said she went to the basement and found a blue flame burning around the outside of the furnace door. Mrs. Wood said she had been unable to contact a furnace repairman.

After several attempts to find a repairman, she finally called the Fire Department about 4:45 p. m. and they cleaned out a clogged flue, which they said was responsible for the fumes.

Holdup Is Prevented As Passerby Arrives While 3 Beat Up Man

An elaborate robbery scheme in which a Cleveland traveler was lured into a dark East End spot on the promise of an "after-hours" drink misfired early today and left three strong-arm men empty-handed, police reported.

W. D. Marler, the intended victim, said he rode to Pennsylvania Ave. and State St. with the trio about 3:30 a. m. on the promise they could get him a drink.

Instead, he said, he was assaulted and threatened, but the would-be robbers fled when a passerby intervened.

Mr. Marler said the robbery scheme began to unfold as he sat reading in the Bus Terminal and was approached by a man about 23 or 24 years old who struck up a conversation and "offered to take me to a place where he could get me a drink".

Mr. Marler agreed, so he and the unidentified man got into a 1941 model coupe outside, occupied by two other men, he said.

When they arrived at the East End spot, one of the men knocked on a window, but got no response, so the men started to retrace their steps to the car, the Clevelander related.

Then, he said, one of the men struck him in the face, shoved his hand into his pocket as though it held a gun, and demanded: "Give me all you have."

Mr. Marler replied he had no money and called to a passerby, later identified as Paul Ours, 1027 Pennsylvania Ave. As Mr. Ours approached, the holdup men fled on Pennsylvania Ave., he told police.

Unfamiliar with the city, Mr. Marler was hazy about street and place names, but Mr. Ours told police the robbery attempt took place around the Parsons Auto Body

POTTER ESCAPES FLAMES IN HOME

Truck, Garage Destroyed In Another Damaging Fire

A pottery worker narrowly escaped from his home when it was razed by fire early this morning, while in another blaze in the same neighborhood a truck and garage were destroyed, firemen said.

Firemen also answered eight other alarms Monday—one false—as grass fires blazed throughout the city.

Earl Hargreaves, who resides on Annesley Road, said he was awakened about 1 a. m. today by the heat and fled through the flames which enveloped his one-room frame house.

The home and contents were destroyed with the exception of a few clothes, Mr. Hargreaves said. He estimated the loss at approximately $600.

An employee of Plant 4 of the Homer Laughlin China Co., Mr. Hargraves said his hands were burned and hair scorched when he fled the structure. He returned to work today, however.

The fire was believed to have started from the outside, Mr. Hargreaves said.

Firemen were called at 3:10 a. m. when the garage and truck owned by James W. Black, also of Annesley Road, were destroyed by

2 REDS KILLED; ITALIANS FEAR NEW VIOLENCE

Party Leaders Call Meeting To Seek Peace Remedy; Milan March Staged

By The Associated Press

ROME, March 30—Italian party leaders, disturbed by two political killings in the leftist north yesterday, arranged to meet tomorrow to seek remedies for a rash of violence which threatens their campaign truce.

Communist Umberto Terrachini, president of the constituent assembly, who arranged the truce in an effort to bar bloodshed in the campaign for the vital April 18 elections, called the meeting.

Some 7,000 stave-swinging unemployed marched through the streets of Milan today, demanding work and relief payments. Police stood by anxiously, because of yesterday's widespread outbursts, but there were no incidents of violence.

There were predictions the incidents may set off trouble today.

Yesterday's violence followed increasing bitterness over the elections.

Newspaper accounts said two Communists were shot when they got into an argument with spectators during a march from one village to another. An injured rightist reportedly was a national bloc speaker.

Italy's Chrsitian Democrat premier, Alcide De Gasperi, literally has talked himself hoarse trying to convince the Italians the Communists must be defeated.

He spoke at Frosinone yesterday and later gave a shortened version of the same speech at Cassino. He will be 67 Saturday and the vigorous campaigning has worn on him. His aids are visibly worried about his health.

The Communists are pushing their campaign, too. Giuseppe Di Vittorio, Red boss of the Italian Federation of Labor, said in a signed article in a Milan newspaper that a Communist election victory would mean more, not less, American aid.

Another strong factor is at work in this campaign in the world's center of Catholicism—the work of the clergy.

From Pope Pius XII to the parish priest fervent pleas are being sounded for the Italians to unite for a free, democratic government, and against communism.

Swedish Police Halt Another Mysterious Riot

By The United Press.

STOCKHOLM, March 30—Swedish police with sabers broke up a rioting mob of 5,000 persons in South Stockholm last night, the third mysterious riot in four days. Fifty-six persons have been arrested and six hospitalized.

The rioting started last Friday and continued over the week-end. Police refused to report on the origin. Week-end broadcasts from Moscow, however, charged Sweden with a "war psychosis" and said she was preparing to offer bomber bases to the United States in case of war.

Fire Razes Two Buildings

PHILADELPHIA, March 30—Fire destroyed two buildings in the Germantown section of the city early today and forced many families to flee from near-by homes.

Cousin Of Donner Or Blitzen?

Deer Bounds Through Bradshaw Ave. Home

RIPPING GOOD TIME. That's what the wild deer didn't have when it invaded the Harold Hadley home at 930 Bradshaw Ave. this morning. A daughter, Ruth Hadley, is shown here holding the ripped curtain and preparing to sweep up the broken glass that littered the floor where the animal plunged through the window into the living room, going out through a rear window.

MR. and Mrs. Harold Hadley didn't need an alarm clock this morning.

A wild deer got them up promptly at 7:15 when it bounded through a front window of their home at 930 Bradshaw Ave., pranced around in terror for a few moments in the living room and dining room then jumped out through another window — curtains, glass, storm sash and all.

It wasn't the "night before Christmas", nor was it Donner or Blitzen, probably only a distant cousin.

Mr. Hardey was aroused first

VET SENTENCED IN CAR ROBBERY

2 Youths, Girl Also Fined In Auditorium Vandalism

A veteran who admitted a theft from a city councilman's car, and three young people charged with vandalism in Memorial Auditorium were given fines and jail sentences Monday afternoon by Municipal Judge Frank E. Grosshans.

Edgar T. Brooks of Beverly Court, Pa., a 30-year-old veteran, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to a 30-day term after he pleaded guilty to a petty larceny charge alleging he stole checks, letters and a pair of gloves Saturday night from the auto of Councilman John J. McKee, parked in the driveway at the Elks Club.

Varying sentences were given two youths and a girl charged with malicious destruction of auditorium property worth $85.

Judge Grosshans fined Abe Coleman, 20, of Sophia St. $200 and costs and sentenced him to 30 days, fined Jack Wasson, 19, of Jackson St. $100 and costs and gave him a 30-day term, and meted out a fine of $1 and costs and a suspended 30-day term to Gwen Golden, 19, of St. George St.

The three were charged with smashing a microphone worth $50, a window valued at $10 and a door worth $25 after entering Memorial Auditorium early Sunday.

Police said Wasson was paroled only last Wednesday after serving a 28-month term in the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield on an auto theft charge.

Miss Golden was placed on probation and ordered to report to Police Chief Leroy J. Wise.

Brooks told police his home is in the Pennsylvania city, but he has been visiting his grandparents on Kountz Ave. Checks worth more than $500 were found in his hip pocket early Sunday after he was picked up for investigation as a suspicious person, police said.

The three charged with destruction of the school property were apprehended when police were notified Miss Golden was screaming on the street about 3 a. m. Sunday.

The arrests were made by Lt. George Kidd and Patrolman Henry Hackathorn.

In another theft case, a youth listed as William Garey Jr., 20, of Route 30 near East Liverpool was held for the grand jury yesterday afternoon by Judge Grosshans

PAN AMERICAN PARLEY BEGINS

Communism Among Issues Expected To Be Aired

By The Associated Press

BOGOTA, Colombia, March 30—Top diplomats of 21 Pan American nations will convene here today for what may prove to be the most important conference in the history of the Western Hemisphere.

President Mariano Ospina Perez of Colombia will open the ninth international conference of American states with a welcoming address this afternoon.

Three basic projects face the delegates:

▶Molding of the inter-American system into a strong regional bloc within the framework of the United Nations.

▶Creation of a program of economic aid for Latin America.

▶Enactment of a pact providing for a peaceful solution of differences between the American republics.

Not on the agenda, but certain to play an important role in the discussions, are the issues of communism and colonialism in the Western Hemisphere.

Chile, Paraguay and Cuba have expressed hope that the conference will take a stand against Communist infiltration in the Americas.

Some members have contended it is preferable to have each nation settle its own Communist problems.

Joao Neves Fontoura, chief delegate from Brazil, told newsmen his country will not bring up the

Justice Gives Speedy Ruling As Mine Chief Fails To Appear In Person

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 30—Justice Edward M. Curran ordered John L. Lewis to appear today at 2 p. m. before President Truman's board of inquiry in the coal strike.

Justice Curran acted quickly after Mr. Lewis' attorney raised the question of adequate time to reply to the summons and challenged the constitutionality of the Taft-Hartley law.

Welley K. Hopkins, attorney for the chief of the United Mine Workers, had argued barely 10 minutes when Justice Curran ruled. Mr. Lewis did not appear personally to explain why he should not appear before the board of inquiry.

Justice Curran told Mr. Hopkins the court had been lenient in granting Mr. Lewis an opportunity to "show cause". The judge said that in his opinion he could have directed Mr. Lewis to appear before the board without the formality of today's hearing.

The order for Mr. Lewis to appear before the board this afternoon, Justice Curran said, would have to be served on Mr. Lewis personally.

This posed a new problem for U. S. marshals. They had a merry chase yesterday in trying to reach Mr. Lewis with the subpena from the inquiry board, and later the court order to show cause.

Mr. Lewis sent four lawyers to Justice Curran's court—Mr. Hopkins, Earl Houck, Harrison W. Combs and T. C. Townsend.

Meanwhile, federal transportation officials revealed today that the government is ready to order further cuts in passenger-freight service of coal-burning railroads. This may strand circuses and carnivals.

Experts in the office of Defense Transportation disclosed that the new action will be taken "probably by April 10" unless the miners return to the pits.

The new cuts would be in addition to the 25 per cent reduction already ordered in passenger service, which became effective Sunday, March 21. A freight cut will become effective at midnight tonight.

BOARD TO REGISTER VOTERS ON 4 NIGHTS

Office To Remain Open To 9 Thursday Until Monday

The County Election Board's office at City Hall will be open the last four nights before the registration deadline Monday night to give East Liverpool voters extra time in which to qualify for the May 4 primaries, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said today.

The office will remain open until 9 p. m. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday and Monday, Mr. O'Hanlon said. Normal office hours are from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m.

Beginning Thursday, the office will follow this schedule: 9 a. m. until noon, 1 to 5 p. m., and 6 to 9 p. m. This will allow voters 10 hours in which to register on the last four days, as compared with six hours during the normal business day.

The city has about 9,200 registered voters, as against the estimated potential vote of 13,000. Mr. O'Hanlon said today no rush has developed, despite the approaching deadline. Registrations are averaging about 10 daily, he said, indicating a heavy rush will develop in the last day or so if many of the unregistered voters are to qualify.

Bodies Of 10 District Men Due Home In European Shipments

The bodies of 10 district men—including two from East Liverpool—are due home from European cemeteries in one of the largest group of war dead returned locally since hostilities ended.

There will be six from Columbiana county, two from Hancock county and two from Beaver county—men who fell in the European theater — expected at New York Harbor this week on two Army transports.

The John L. McCarley is carrying 2,619 bodies, virtually all from "D-Day" military cemeteries at Saint Laurent-sur-Mer, Blosville and LaCambe, Normandy, while 2,723 are aboard the Robert F. Burns, exhumed from later-established cemeteries at Henri Chapelle, Belgium, and Varois and Epinal, France.

Five of the district bodies are on the Burns and the remainder on the McCarley, the Army said.

Of the total number being returned, the Army said 316 will be sent to next-of-kin in Ohio, 516 in Pennsylvania and 105 in West Virginia.

The Columbiana county bodies are those of Pfc. Homer R. Beaver and Corp. Tech. Hugh R. Starr, both of East Liverpool; Pvt. Theodore A. Detwiler of Columbiana, Pfc. Paul H. Helman of Leetonia, Pfc. Russell B. Hunston of East Palestine and Pfc. James L. Shive of Lisbon.

The Hancock county men are Pvt. Melvin E. Miller of Chester and Pvt. William B. Long of New Cumberland. Returning to Beaver county are Pfc. Donald V. Swear-

Only 5 Days To Register!

TO be eligible to vote in East Liverpool at the May 4 primaries, you must register with the Election Board at City Hall if:

You haven't voted in a primary, general or special election in the last two years; you've changed your name by marriage or court action; you've changed your residence since the last election; you've just moved into the city; you've become 21 since the last election or will be 21 by Nov. 2.

A new resident is qualified to vote after he has resided in Ohio a year, in Columbiana county and in his precinct 40 days prior to Election Day.

Registration Ends Monday, April 5!

Paul G. White Given Position As Radio Station's Manager

The Pottery Broadcasting Co., operators of East Liverpool's new radio station, WLIO, announced today that Paul G. White has been appointed station manager.

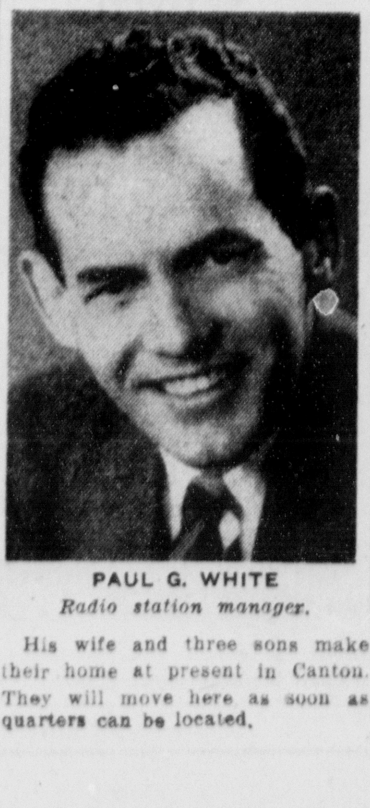
Mr. White, 35, comes here from Canton, where he has been associated with WCMW, a 1,000-watt, daytime station of the same power and operating hours as WLIO. The Canton station, like WLIO, had no network affiliation.

Before going to Canton, Mr. White was identified with WKBN in Youngstown, serving as news editor and director of special events.

In the latter capacity, he visited East Liverpool for a special broadcast from Memorial Auditorium in which the community's history was reviewed in pageant form. A little later he spoke before the Kiwanis Club, emphasizing East Liverpool's need of a radio "voice".

Educated in Winthrop, Mass., where his parents still reside, his first radio experience was with the Yankee Network in New England. Most of his assignments were in Boston.

From 1930 until 1936 he was in show business, touring the country with stock companies.



PAUL G. WHITE

His wife and three sons make their home at present in Canton. They will move here as soon as quarters can be located.

President Hints That Wallace Should Take Party To Russia

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 30 — Henry A. Wallace came back to the capital today, hard on the heels of President Truman's thinly-veiled suggestion that he take his whole third-party movement to Russia.

At the same time, anti-Truman Democrats refused to accept as final an official Army declaration that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is no more available to them than to the Republicans.

And on the other side of the political fence, reports bobbed up that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Sen. Robert A. Taft have agreed to gang up against Harold E. Stassen's bid for Maine's 13 G.O.P. convention votes.

These were the developments, one at a time.

Mr. Truman, who less than two weeks ago denounced "Henry Wallace and his Communists," in a St. Patrick's Day speech, took another poke at his ousted cabinet officer and presidential rival yesterday. The setting this time was a dinner meeting of Greek-Americans, the order of Ahepa.

The President was introduced by Dean Alfange of New York, who told the audience that Mr. Wallace and his followers ought to go to the Rocky Mountains "in the role of the Greek guerrillas".

Then, Mr. Alfange continued, Premier Stalin might recognize the former vice-president as "the leader of the free government of the United States".

"The dean has stolen my thunder," Mr. Truman said in his extemporaneous remarks. "I was going to tell you that the Greeks had a Henry Wallace. I was going to tell you that the Greeks had a statesman, an orator, a demagogue. They had the greatest demagogue of all times. Alcibiades."

But, the chief executive continued, "if imitators of that ancient Greek conqueror want to see liberties subverted, I suggest that they go not to the Rocky Mountains—that's fine country out there. He (sic) ought to go to the country he loves so well and help them against his own country if that's the way he feels."

There was no immediate rejoinder from Mr. Wallace. He was booked for an afternoon appearance before the Senate armed services committee to oppose Mr. Truman's request for a temporary draft revival and universal military training. The President has asked for these steps to back up this country's demand that Russia halt her Communist aggression.

Mr. Wallace repeatedly has accused the President of adopting policies that will lead to war.

"This country never wants war," Mr. Truman told the Ahepa gathering.

"But there are certain things which are worse than war. One of them is slavery. That's what we were faced with in 1940 and 1941. We are faced with almost exactly the same situation today."

As for Gen. Eisenhower and the boom among some southern and northern Democrats to promote him as a substitute candidate for Mr. Truman, the Army's top press relations officer, Maj. Gen. Floyd L. Parks, said all this maneuvering has had no effect upon the retired chief of staff.

Permitting his name to be used rather than insisting upon anonymity as an "Eisenhower spokesman", Gen. Parks declared in a statement that "under no conceivable circumstances" will the five-star general yield to a Democratic draft.

Almost simultaneously, the policy committee of the Liberal party of New York adopted a resolution calling upon the Democratic party to draft Gen. Eisenhower as its nominee. A party spokesman said committee members knew of the Washington statement before they acted.

Meanwhile, James Roosevelt said he has no intention of climbing on the Eisenhower bandwagon as have two of his younger brothers, Elliott and Franklin D. Jr.

"I'm not a bolter," the chairman of the California Democratic committee told newsmen at San Diego last night.

In the Republican arena, Washington politicians close to the situation said an undercover fight over the complexion of Maine's delegation to the G.O.P. national convention probably will break into the open later this week.

The state Republican convention is due to meet Thursday and Friday to name 13 delegates to the Philadelphia presidential nominating meeting. Traditionally, the slate would go uninstructed.

But politicians here say Gov. Dewey and Sen. Taft have reached a silent agreement to work for a delegation which would be about evenly divided among their friends.

The New York governor and the Ohio senator are said to feel that otherwise Mr. Stassen might run away with the plums while they were fighting each other.

If the reputed Dewey-Taft combine works in Maine, it may be another sign of growing friendliness between the two major candidates.

But their supporters say the tie-up won't hold elsewhere. In Nebraska, for instance, they will be slashing at each other's political throats in the April 13 popularity primary.

Newell Club Sets Prizes In April 9 Show

ENTRANTS will be competing for $50 in cash prizes when the Newell Lions Club stages its "Amateur Night" April 9.

Chairman Harry Grant announced final arrangements for the show today. He said the prizes will go to winners in two groups—the student division, for those up to 18, and the adult division, for those 18 and older.

Entries must be in Mr. Grant's hands by midnight of April 7. Application blanks may be obtained at Carnahan's Drug Store in Newell or by writing the Lions Club.

The "Amateur Night" will be presented in the Wells High School auditorium.

Proceeds will be used to put on a clean-up campaign this spring in Newell.

Plea May Delay Chair

U.S. STILL HOLDS ALIEN PROPERTY GRABBED IN OHIO

Over-All Activity Involved 112 Accounts Valued At About $820,400

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 30—The government still controls thousands of dollars of property in Ohio seized during the war because it was owned by residents of enemy countries.

The Office of Alien Property said today its over-all operations in the state involved 112 accounts worth $820,400.

This included interests in three business enterprises with $160,200, plus 27 pieces of real estate worth $377,000, and parts of estates and trusts amounting to $121,000.

The three business enterprises were the biggest individual items. They were the American Felsol Co., Lorain; R.A.C.E., Inc., Cleveland, and the American Citizen Life Insurance Co., Columbus.

The alien property custodian took 60 per cent of the stock of this company, owned by an Italian insurance company, in March, 1943. Assets were $115,000.

Almost Completely Liquidated

The enterprise now is almost completely liquidated, the agency said. It reported the United States broke even in the deal.

The Felsol concern, producers of a drug product, was owned by a German company, Roland Commandit Geselschaft, GMBH. It was estimated at $106,000. It was seized in July, 1942.

The agency said Felsol still is operating, with the government's share of the profits going into a special account at the Treasury Department—the usual procedure in all cases.

In August, 1942, the agency took 98 per cent stock interest in R.A.C.E., producers of chemical equipment. The company formerly was owned by an Italian.

Under terms of the Italian peace treaty, the agency said, the property probably will be returned to the former owner subject to deduction of administrative expenses Total assets in August, 1946, amounted to $83,000. The agency's interest was estimated at $50,000.

Rests With Congress

Ultimate disposition of these enterprises will rest with Congress. After World War I, Congress gave German owners 80 cents on the dollar for property which had been seized.

Among the larger real estate items still held by the agency are these:

▶A three-story brick apartment and stores, the Delmar apartments, at 2845-47 Woodburn Ave., Cincinnati, valued at $27,000.

▶An apartment at 1877 East 97th St., Cleveland, valued at $42,000 when taken over in 1943.

▶A two-story duplex at 984 Cleveland Ave., Cincinnati, valued at $10,000 when seized in 1944.

▶Fourteen unimproved commercial lots at Spring Grove and Elmore Sts., Cincinnati, valued at $7,500 when seized in 1946. The agency's interest is $5,520.

The total amount of such property seized by the Office of Alien Property throughout the country amounted to more than 300 million dollars. The largest item was the 69 million dollars General Aniline & Film Corp., which was taken from the I. G. Farben Trust.

NO. 1 OHIO APPLICANT WILL GET $220 BONUS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, March 30 — The check for Jimmie C. Flood of Quaker City, Ohio's No. 1 applicant for a World War II soldier bonus, will total $220.

Maj. Gen. C. W. Goble, state bonus director, disclosed this yesterday announcing his office has processed the first batch of applications through the stage of determining the amounts.

The application of Mr. Flood, a Guernsey county farmer, was the first to be drawn from the mail bags several weeks ago. He spent 12 months and 12 days in domestic service and six months and 12 days in foreign service.

The $220 figure is subject to approval by the compensation fund's auditing department, where the checks will be written.

When the checks go out has not been determined.

OHIO'S LIQUOR PRICES GO BOTH UP AND DOWN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, March 30 — Some liquor prices went up and some went down in Ohio yesterday.

Liquor Director Dale Dunifon announced several price changes, ranging from boosts of $1.14 a bottle to cuts of 40 cents a bottle. He said they reflect differences in vendor prices to the state.

Increases were listed for one straight bourbon, up 71 cents a pint and $1.14 a fifth; one bonded bourbon, up 38 cents a pint, and one Jamaica rum, up a cent a fifth.

Eight Scotch brands were reduced from 22 to 40 cents a bottle; one domestic Scotch type is down 5 cents; two Canadian whiskys are down 10 cents a fifth and 7 cents a pint; three gins are down 1 to 5 cents a pint and fifth, and one imported Cognac is down 40 cents a fifth.

HOSPITAL CONFIRMS TOUHY GETS PAROLE

By The United Press.

SPRINGFIELLD, Mo., March 30—Administrative officials at the federal prison hospital here confirmed that Tommy (Terrible) Touhy of Chicago's notorious "Touhy Gang" has been paroled after serving more than 10 years for a $78,000 railway depot robbery.

Touhy, according to a hospital officials, had spent most of his sentence in hospitals for treatment of a palsy induced by tuberculosis.

"He wasn't much of a terror when he left here," one official said. "He could hardly walk."

The hospital did not know where Touhy had gone when released, but there have been reports of him in Tucson, Ariz. The hospital believes that relatives had placed him in a sanitorium.

STATE FUNDS AID COUNTY TB WORK

$12,810 Allocated In Last 6 Months For Program

Columbiana county received $12,810 from the state tuberculosis subsidy approved by the last legislature, which made possible the care of almost half a million tubercular persons in Ohio.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson reported to Health Director John D. Porterfield in Columbus that all but four counties—Athens, Geauga, Morgan and Vinton—participated in the state grants, which totaled $1,169,880 for the last six months of 1947.

Another $987 of the fund was encumbered, which left only $17,882 remaining at the end of the year of the $1,188,750 subsidy fund set up by the legislature.

Of the total spent, $1,131,017 was expended at the rate of $2.50 per patient-day to care for 452,407 patients, while the remaining $38,862 was spent at the $1.25 rate to care for 31,090 patients.

The subsidy was set up to help counties pay the cost of caring for tubercular patients at the rate of $1.25 a day to the county for improvement of facilities, and $1.25 for actual care per patient day.

In cases where the patients were sent to some other institution because the county did not have a tuberculosis hospital of its own, as in this county, the entire $2.50 grant went to the hospital, with $1.25 of the sum being applied to the charges which the hospital made against the committing county.

The average number of patients-days per month was about 80,000, Mr. Ferguson reported.

Mr. Ferguson accompanied the report with excerpts from letters from hospitals which had received aid under the bill.

Columbiana county reported: "For the first time in many years there has been money for hospital care of the tubercular in the county."

The Belmont County Sanatorium said: "The state subsidy has made it possible for us to meet rapidly increasing costs both in materials and services. This we could not have done with our usual appropriation from the general fund".

The Richland County Sanatorium reported the subsidy made it possible to use the new drug, streptomycin, and thus treat patients who otherwise might not have been saved.

DELEGATES FOR G. O. P. TO TAKE OVER HOTELS

Head Of Mine Bureau Works Hard At Post, But Doesn't Get Paid

By The United Press.

WASHINGTON, March 30—James M. Boyd spends more than 10 hours a day at his desk as a director of the government's Bureau of Mines. But he hasn't had a pay check in three months.

Every morning shortly after 7, five days a week, the 44-year-old engineer-geologist starts to work. His are such problems as speeding the country's infant synthetic fuels program, conserving and developing mineral resources and finding a solution for the greatest killers of miners, roof collapses and explosions. He rarely leaves before 6 p. m.

Although President Truman first appointed Mr. Boyd to the job a year ago, Congress never has acted on his nomination. Last December, Mr. Truman appointed him a third time, while the Senate public lands committee approved him, his nomination still awaits Senate confirmation.

The only witness before Congress who has opposed Mr. Boyd's nomination is United Mine Workers Chief John L. Lewis.

Mr. Boyd was ready at one point to throw in the towel and accept an offer to work for the Atomic Energy Commission at a better salary than the $10,000 a year he is supposed to get from his present job. But both administration and congressional friends encouraged him to stay on.

He doesn't know how much longer he can keep up the waiting game. He has a wife and four young sons to support.

At any rate, he says, he's "not going out like a lamb".

TRUMAN PICKS OHIOAN AS TREASURY COUNSEL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 30—President Truman yesterday nominated Thomas J. Lynch of Ohio to be general counsel of the treasury.

He also sent to the Senate the nomination of James M. Robertson to be collector of customs at Norfolk, Va., replacing Alexander H. Bell, resigned.

Another nomination is that of Felix Cole, a foreign service officer of Washington, D. C., to be ambassador to Ceylon.

Mr. Lynch, a former Toledo lawyer, has been an attorney in the Treasury Department since 1934.

He was nominated on the recommendation of A. A. Horstman of Dayton, state Democratic chairman.

Our Trade With Russia

UNDER authority of a 1939 law, President Truman has halted the export of military supplies to Russia and eastern Europe. It was a sensible and necessary move, perhaps too long delayed. But it hasn't satisfied those who point out that, in these days of total war, all goods can be converted to military use. Food textiles, lumber, hides—all are as necessary as bullets to operate the military machine.

However, trade with Russia hasn't been a one-way proposition. Complete suspension of our trade with her would cut off 25 per cent of our manganese imports and 29 per cent of our chromium. Furthermore, instigation of an East-West trade war would halt the very considerable commerce which moves through the so-called Iron Curtain. Supplying western Europe with what Russia now sells there would put a great strain on our country.

Long-Range Worrying

WHILE the clash of ideologies and power politics makes the headlines, Fairfield Osborn deals with a less spectacular idea but one which he believes is as explosive as a rack of fission bombs.

Mr. Osborn, president of the New York Zoological Society, has written a book entitled Our Plundered Planet, in which he says an unreasoning conflict with nature is more likely to destroy man than is war.

"Another century like the last and civilization will be facing its final crisis," he says after comparing the population increase to the loss of arable land through misuse.

Organic materials move steadily toward the cities, where they are disposed of as waste and never replaced on the land which produced them. Chemical fertilizers are only party effective. Mr. Osborn doesn't offer a remedy, but he says one will have to be found if civilization is to survive. He says we shall have to accept the fact that mankind, "like all other living things, is part of one great biological scheme".

Those who place their faith in atomic energy, chemurgy and hypfoponics are playing long shots, in Mr. Osborn's opinion. The idea that man, being inherently good, deserves to survive, isn't enough. Neither is hoping that things will turn out for the best. Mr. Osborn has exploited an idea which shows that even if every trouble spot in the world were cleared up, the human race still would have a formidable task on its hands. That task is making peace with nature by restoring its regenerative balance.

Lavish Leave Allowances

OHIO Chamber of Commerce criticism of leave regulations for federal employees is justified. A survey by Senators Ball and Bridges for the Senate appropriations committee shows wasteful practices and unparalleled liberality that would bankrupt a private employer.

Sick leave may be taken up to 15 days a year and accumulated up to 90 days. Time off for sickness is counted toward earning the annual 26 days of regular leave. State employees have 11 days of regular leave.

A nine-month survey of Government Printing Office time cards showed average sick leave to be 9.6 days, most of which were taken after week end holidays. Rumors of reduction in force resulted in many becoming conveniently "ill" to use up accumulated leave.

Many employees accumulate their 90 days of leave, for which they are paid upon separation. Some agencies have so many employees with 90 days to their credit that it would disrupt their budgets to drop them from the payrolls. Accumulated annual and sick leave due government jobholders is estimated to be $1,100,000,000.

No one begrudges federal employees a fair amount of time off under sick and annual leave. But allowances should be brought in line with those prevailing in industry and in state, county and city governments.

Memorable Date In History

THIS is a serious editorial, written to commemorate countless wounds and endless suffering inflicted on innoncent victims of a great modern oversight—the failure of auto maunfacturers to standardize the height of bumpers.

It was inevitable that the stylishly low bumpers on Mr. Zillion's new eight-cylinder Purrmaster would slip under the high guard rails on Joe Clunk's rusty heap in a parking collision and get caught there. It was inevitable that thousands of man-hours would be frittered away while countless motorists cursed, tugged, heaved and hauled. Anyone with an ounce of sense could have seen that was bound to happen. But until recently, there hadn't been an ounce of sense in the vast-sprawling motor car industry.

It was not until March 24, 1948, that the Society of Automotive Engineers, which sets standards for the industry, tardily agreed that automobile bumpers should be 18.25 inches from the ground. It will be years before the result reaches the public. But March 24, 1948, should be memorized by school children in the meantime.

An Open Letter To Prof. Dunn Of New York

Prof. L. C. Dunn
Columbiana University
New York, N. Y.

DEAR Prof. Dunn:

I see that you have written another letter to the editor of the New York Times, and I must say that I would not have recognized it as the work of a scientist. Scientists claim to deal with tangibles, with facts that are verifiable. You have nothing to do with the mystical.

So let us have a look.

According to you, the American-Soviet Science Society and the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship separated, effective July 1, 1946, in some relationship to a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation of $25,000. Apparently, we are to assume that this grant from the Rockefeller Foundation makes your organization right.

However, the fact remains that on March 8, 1948, both organizations were listed as having the same bulletin board of the same building, 114 East 32 St., New York, N. Y.

SUPPOSE somebody wanted to telephone the American-Soviet Scientific Society. He would look in the telephone book and find that your number is listed as Murray Hill 3-2080. You say that you had moved, but you did not change the telephone number for almost two years.

That is very curious. Did you not receive any telephone calls during that two-year period? Did you somehow notify everyone who might under any circumstances wish to communicate by telephone with your society that you were at another number? This all appears very mysterious.

Furthermore, in New York City, the telephone book serves as a city directory. If one seeks an address, the telephone book supplies it. According to the telephone book, the address of your society on March 8, 1948, was 114 East 32 St., the same as the National Council for American-Soviet Friendship, which has been declared a subversive organization.

But you say that you moved from that office to the American-Russian Institute at 58 Park Ave. on or about July 1, 1946. How does it happen that no one took the trouble for almost two years to make the change of the listing in the telephone book? Apparently, it was a matter of no importance. No sensible person lets his address and his telephone number be wrong in the telephone book for two years.

NOW, THERE is another point. You refer to Rep. Holifield of California as a witness; that he reported concerning your organization in the Congressional Record for July 22, 1947—a year after you claim to have changed your address; eight months before I found that you used the same telephone number as the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, declared to be a subversive organization—and appearing on the same building directory as occupying the same rooms.

Well, this same Rep. Holifield made the point on March 9, 1948, also in the Congressional Record, that your organization in some manner served the armed forces. I ask him to specify. But you make the point that your society was organized during May, 1945. The European war was over May 8, 1945. The Far Eastern war was over Aug. 14, 1945.

PRECISELY what services did your society perform for the armed forces of the United States between May, 1945, when you say you were organized, and the end of the war—V-J Day—three months later, or the end of the European war, during the very same month. It would be interesting to know how much you could do in such a short time, apart from getting a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation on July 1, 1946, nearly a year after V-J Day.

No, my dear professor, your letter is too mysterious to be convincing. Mind you, I do not know your politics or your philosophy. I do not know whether you are an Hegelian, a Marxist, a Jeffersonian, a Wallacite or a registered Republican. I know only that you wrote a couple of letters, one of which led me to the telephone book and a bulletin board, and that if, as a scientist, you faced such precise data, you would prefer it to the confusions of dialectics.

Faithfully yours,
George E. Sokolsky

Stomped To Death

From The Chicago Tribune

WE ARE indebted to the journal of the American Judicature Society for an account of some recent examples of legal opinion from deep in the heart of Texas. The article is entitled Texas Bar Seeks Improvement In Criminal Procedure. There seems to be good reason for this modest desire.

One case ciited is that of Chesley A. Gregg, indicted for drowning his wife and her son, by a former husband in the Trinity River bottom. Texas statutes require that the indictment set out the means by which the crime was committed, if known; if not known to the grand jury, the grand jury must so state.

GREGG WAS sentenced to death, but on appeal, the Court of Criminal Appeals agreed to defense objections to the sufficiency of the indictment, as it did not "allege whether the deceased was drowned in water, coffee, tea or what". The case has been tried three times since then.

The other case involved an indictment charging that "Buster Northern on the 27th day of March, 1946, . . . did then and there unlawfully, voluntarily and with malice aforethought, kill Fannie McHenry by then and there kicking and stomping the said Fannie McHenry". He also was sentenced to death, but again the sufficiency of the indictment was questioned. The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed on the ground that the indictment did not affirmatively state that the "kicking and stomping" were "done with the feet".

IT WAS in vain that the dissenting justice, Graves, remonstrated with his colleagues that kicking and stomping could not be done with any other part of the body. He cited Webster's International Dictionary, which defines the word "kick" as "a blow with the foot or feet; a striking or thrust with the foot", and the word "stomp" as a variation of "stamp", meaning "to strike or beat forcibly with the bottom of the foot, or by thrusting the foot downward".

We had assumed until now that any one south of the Mason-Dixon line knew the meaning of "stomp", but apparently its common usage in those parts refers to executing a barn dance. On the other hand, the Trinity River may not consist of coffee, tea or milk. It actually may be a roaring freshet of corn likker from the hills.

Rolling Their Own

By TRUMAN TWILL

HARDLY A day passes any more without some one having his picture taken beside an automobile he has just built out of an old bathtub, three eggbeaters, an outboard motor, a love seat and his little boy's Erector set. As long as regular automobiles are hard to get and hard to pay for, it's tempting to roll your own.

In due time, no doube, a citizen will be able to send away for a set of plans, complete with easy instructions and a crate of parts for $157.50 . . . this offer good for 30 days only . . . thousands of satisfied customers . . . slightly higher in Canada and west of the Rockies.

What the Twill household needs in the way of a homemade automobile is simple and can be put together by any one with a rudimentary knowledge of tools. Basic specifications follow:

▶Body and fenders must be of plain aluminum that will show no traffic bruises and require no upkeep except an annual wiping off with a damp cloth. This will solve the upkeep problem.

▶Motor must be electric, with current supplied by generators run by small fry on bicycles to divert their energy to some useful purpose. Auxiliary power can be furnished from a boiler fired with household litter now going to waste in incinerator. These devices will sidestep the coming gasoline shortage.

▶There must be a gadget to divert rain water to the batteries and, in the event of prolonged drouth, to set off an alarm that will keep ringing until the batteries have been watered artificially.

▶The tires must be self-inflating, a detail that tire maufacturers have neglected up to this time. All fenders must be equipped with magnets to pull out nails and bits of metail as soon as they are picked up, another thing that has been neglected.

▶There must be running water, modern plumbing, a refrigerator for soft drinks, a separate compartment for dogs, fluorescent lighting, a rear exit, sufficient head room to make it possible for a passenger to stand up and stretch his legs, a galley for cooking light lunches, a two-way radio to appeal for clearer directions in the event of being lost and the whole thing must be amphibous for short cuts through lakes and streams.

Watch for the picture of this beauty and its builder. What can the automobile companies do that any red-blooded American citizen can't do better?

Steel Expands

TWENTY-SEVEN states have steel-making facilities today, compared with 24 at the time of Pearl Harbor, reports the magazine Steel Facts.

Notable in this increase were western and southern states, where capacity almost doubled while the national capacity rose only 6½ per cent.

Pennsylvania retains steel leadership with a capacity of 28,101,230 tons, of which 3,500,000 were added in the 1940-48 period. Ohio is the second largest steel producer with 18,769,010 tons. Indiana and Illinois are next in that order.

Maryland rose from sixth to fifth place, displacing New York. Alabama replaced Michigan in seventh place. Among far western states, California and Utah lead and are 10th and 11th on the national list.

Ingot-making facilities are located in 112 communities, and finishing facilities are in 226 communities in 29 states.

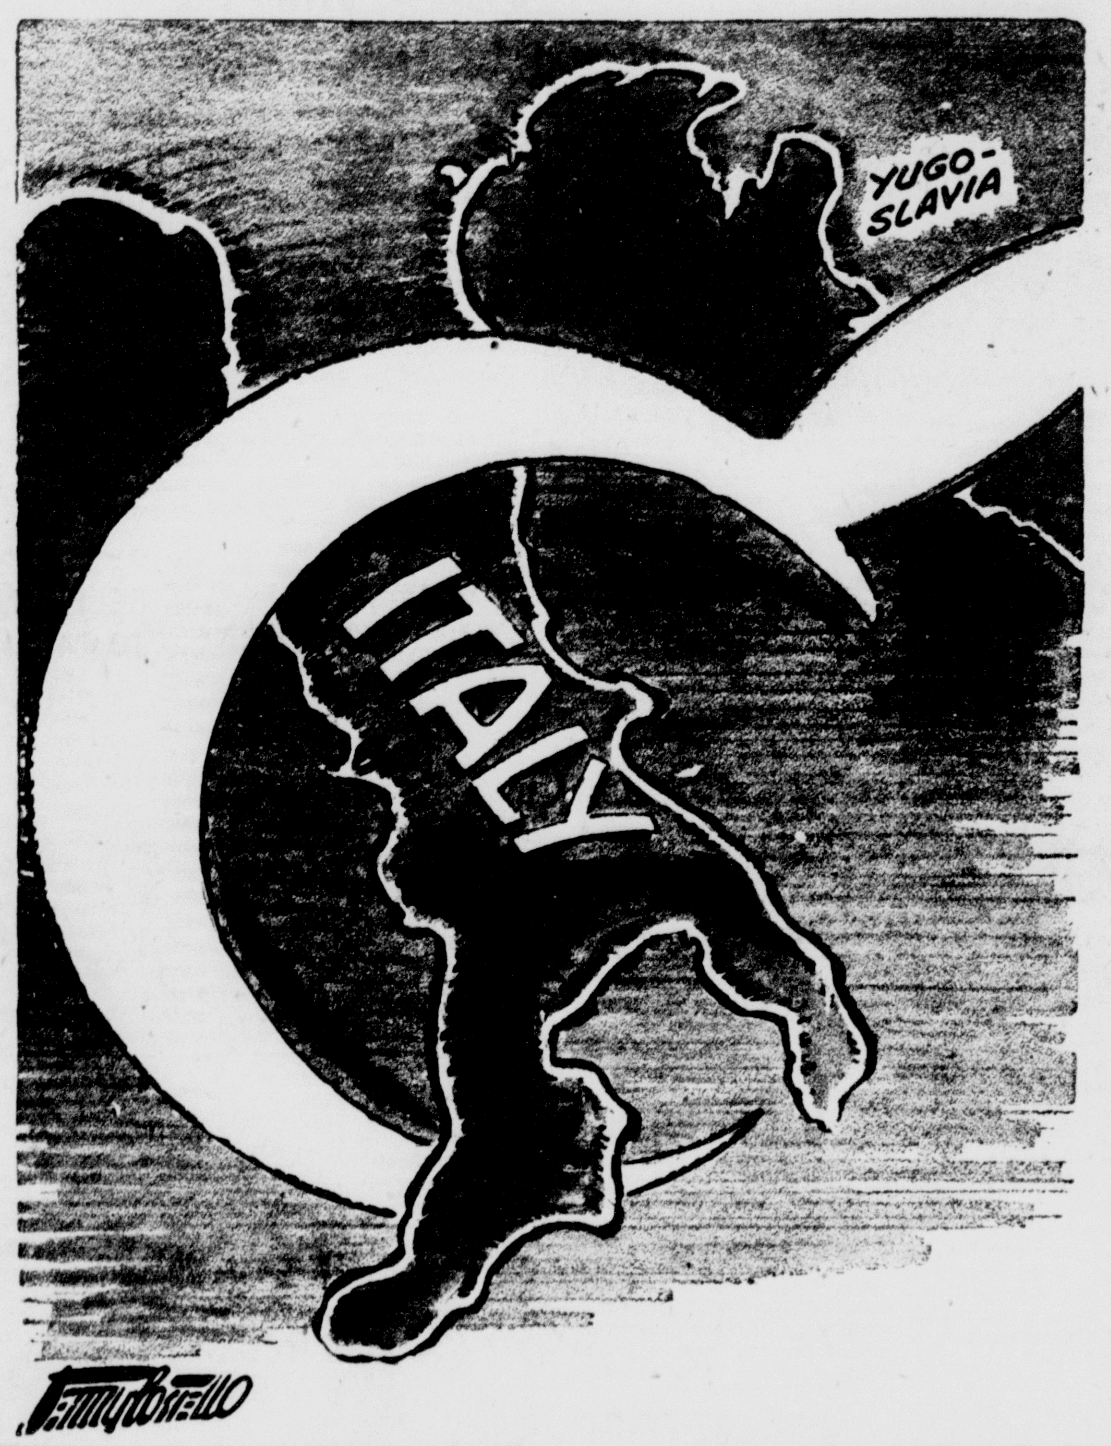
THE GRIM REAPER COMETH



The Truman Rebellion Mounts

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

FRANKLIN JR. and Elliott Roosevelt's statements urging the Democrats to substitute Gen. Eisenhower for President Truman bring things into the open with a vengeance. They openly reflect the northern leaders' discontent with the President, which is almost as strong as the disaffection of the South.

Franklin's action is a clear signal of the trend within the labor movement, which young Roosevelt always follows very closely. And it is the President's second blow from this quarter. It now can be disclosed that Mrs. Roosevelt also has written the White House, offering to resign from the American delegation to the United Nations.

The two actions were entirely independent. Franklin Roosevelt notified his mother that he was going to issue his statement, but is emphatic that he did not ask her advice. Mrs. Roosevelt wrote the White House some days previously, while her son was in the hospital.

In her letter, she declared her strong opposition to President Truman's recent Palestine policy, especially the withdrawal of support for partition. She said she fears this disagreement on principle on an issue before the U. N. might make it embarrassing for her to continue on the United States delegation. She, therefore, made her resignation available to the President. His decision in the matter has not yet been taken, so far as is known.

THERE CAN be no doubt that if Mrs. Roosevelt does retire as a United Nations delegate it will be a blow to Mr. Truman almost heavier than her sons' remarkable declaration for Gen. Eisenhower. With the possible exception of Gen. Eisenhower himself, no living American commands the respect and affection of so many fellow citizens as Mrs. Roosevelt. Her wise and steady opposition to Henry A. Wallace's Communist-dominated third-party movement has had a deciding influence in holding innumerable American progressives out of the Wallace camp.

Her resignation from the U. N. delegation, if accepted, inevitably would be taken as a tacit indication of the same feeling which Franklin and Elliott Roosevelt have expressed publicly. Nor will this interpretation be far from correct. The Democratic dovecots in Washington have been fluttering hideously for some time now over the entirely authentic report of a warning from Mrs. Roosevelt to one of the most eminent New York leaders. Mrs. Roosevelt frankly said that, as of today, she no longer could support the President.

FURTHERMORE, it also must be understood that Franklin Roosevelt would not be acting, if it were not for a curious and unknown factor in the situation. A number of other northern and labor leaders have been dissuaded temporarily by the Democratic chairman, Sen. J. Howard McGrath, on the ground that opposition to Mr. Truman at this juncture will influence the delicate Italian election. The same argument has been used to moderate, for a while, the fury of the southern revolt. In short, the Roosevelt statements are only the first major trickle through a dam that shows every sign of bursting.

Another trickle is already in preparation. The Americans For Democratic Action, leaders of the non-Communist progressive opposition to Mr. Wallace, are about to take a preferential Eisenhower-Truman poll of their membership. The outcome is regarded as a foregone conclusion.

But the truth is that the rebellion against Mr. Truman and the sentiment for Gen. Eisenhower are both gaining everywhere. Fear that the rank and file otherwise may desert to Mr. Wallace has caused the leaders of the labor movement to become strongly and quite frankly Eisenhower-minded.

AMONG THE northern politicians, big Ed Flynn of New York is known to be disaffected; Jake Arvey of Chicago has hinted at his disaffection in public, and the situation is not much better in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. The flames in the South long have been visible. There has been only bad news lately, except from California. There, curiously enough, James Roosevelt has been hard at work precariously gluing together the state organization on Mr. Truman's behalf.

Altogether, despite the President's optimistic statements, there is now only one factor working for his renomination. With the single exception of Gen. Eisenhower, no candidate exists on whom the various wings of the Democratic party—South and North, labor movement and conservatives—can unite easily. Gen. Eisenhower, has taken himself firmly out of the race.

There is one thing, however, which is worth remembering. When he talked to friends in the long and difficult months before issuing the letter killing his candidacy as a Republican, Gen. Eisenhower always made two points. First, it was presumptuous to reject the presidency in advance. Second, if the nation had need of him in an emergency, he would be ready to serve. It is on the second point that the Democrats for Eisenhower build their hopes.

Crime Story

Major One Came Every 7.3 Minutes In Ohio

WASHINGTON — A major crime was committed every 7.3 minutes in Ohio last year.

But the state wound up with 5 per cent fewer offenses than the year before.

These facts are revealed in a new study by the Federal Bureau of Investigation covering reports by police from 140 cities.

These cities showed a total of 71,449 offenses last year, compared with 75,641 the year before.

The types of crimes included in these totals are murder, manslaughter, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, breaking or entering, larceny, theft and auto theft.

In general, Ohio trends compared with national trends. The complete study covered 2,076 cities with 65,432,168 inhabitants.

The nation showed an increase of 2.9 per cent in the number of rapes and 3.3 per cent in the number of aggravated assaults. Ohio figures were up 11 and 8 per cent, respectively.

Auto thefts declined 20.7 per cent throughout the country and 20.5 per cent in Ohio.

By types, these were, the number of offenses in the state last year, with the figure for 1946 following in parentheses:

Murder and non-negligent manslaughter, 252 (256); manslaughter by negligence 156 (174); rape, 549 (495); Robbery, 2,905 (3,005); aggravated assault, 2,197 (2,019); burglary, breaking or entering, 16,143 (17,563); larceny, theft, 42,204 (43,272); auto theft, 7,043 (8,857).

J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, said that thousands of additional lesser offenses are not tabulated by the bureau.

He said the extent of crime throughout the country showed no appreciable change from 1946, reached a peak since national statistics first were gathered in 1930.

In general, the number of crimes increased in rural areas and decreased in cities. However, cities with 100,000 or more people generally reported a higher ratio of crime than smaller communities.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Elmer Sends Out Another 'Special'

The Missouri & Pacific Railroad,
Gents:

SALUTATIONS, compliments and three cheers! You have issued an order instructing trainmen to cease clamming up on passengers during railroad delays and give them the dope on what's the trouble. This is an epochal event in American railroading, unless I am wrong again.

In all my experience on railroad trains, it has seemed the policy to drop an iron curtain between the customers and the outside world whenever a train took to a siding for a half-hour or so, went into a state of suspense on the main line or otherwise ceased functioning. It always seemed to me that the trainmen took a particular delight in taking on an air of great secrecy. "Tell 'em nuthin'!" seemed to be the slogan in all such pinches.

—:—

I HAVE seen the politest and most considerate conductors, affable and talkative on all other occasions, clam up like State Department officials the moment the train got into a tie-up and the pasengers asked such a simple question as: "What seems to be the trouble?" Even when I assumed that perhaps they did not know all the details, and asked, "What is your best guess?", I never got to first base.

"Now your are only passengers and you ought to know better than to expect the slightest information on what has happened to this train or how's chances of getting out," seemed to be the one message conveyed by the frozen stares of the train crews. I always have felt that in a tie-up a conductor was not even permitted to answer a question like, "What time is it?", "Gotta match?" or "Didn't you have a brother in Cos Cob named Joe?"

—:—

IT WAS always hard to understand on account of the train crews behaved like reasonable human beings when the train was in motion, and I got the idea that before any man was given a job as a conductor the road probably gave him one last emphatic order: "Lissen, mister, we may be willing to overlook a few faults, but the first time we catch you giving a passenger the slightest inkling on what has happened when a train is delayed, out you go on your ear!"

To know that a railroad actually has issued a formal order to "answer intelligently and patiently all reasonable inquiries by passengers in times of delays" takes the wind out of me. I am inclined to bellow for confirmation and demand it in writing. It is revolutionary, unique, extraordinary and flabbergasting. It is also a swell idea.

I hope you will go through with it. It will take lots of following up. The train crews have been too long accustomed to the "I can't talk" policy to be broken of the habit easily. However, thanks again, and good luck.

Yours,
ELMER.

One Man's Opinion

A REPORT FROM New York indicates that three of four Americans never learned to play a musical instrument. A report from Washington indicates that one who did wishes he had stuck with it.

The action of the Mississippi legislature in considering the banning of piano playing of The Missouri Waltz on the air infringes the rights of two presidents . . . and Petrillo is not easily appeased.

First thing you know they'll be running an independent "Voice of America" program with Speed Riggs beamed toward Washington.

I hear Harry didn't mind when they talked of plugging his piano and he didn't mind when they talked up Dixie for a theme song, but when they prefaced his last speech with, "The views of the speaker are not necessarily those of Robert E. Lee," he got a little angry.

a fire believed caused by a short circuit in a battery charger.

The charger had been hooked to a small Crosley truck in the structure, firemen said. Apparently starting from the short, firemen said the blaze burned the cables on the charger and then caught the truck on fire.

Both were insured, it was understood. The loss was not estimated.

Firemen battled a stubborn rubbish fire at the West Fourth St. dump for almost two and a half hours last night as the blaze was fanned by the high winds.

Firemen said they were called at 9:13 p. m. and returned to the station at 11:35 p. m. The alarm was phoned in by Fairview St. residents, who said sparks from the blaze more than two blocks away endangered their homes.

They were called to the apartment of Mrs. Verna Papendry, 631½ Dresden Ave., at 4:15 p. m. yesterday but there was no fire. They said the alarm was sounded when neighbors smelled burning paper. The paper was being used to light a gas stove burner, they said.

Six grass fires kept firemen on the run yesterday. They answered alarms yesterday afternoon to Ray St., Walnut St., Oakwood Ave., and Sunnyside Ave.

Two grass fires last night sent the firemen to Sanford St. and Shively's Hill.

Firemen also were called to Avondale and Morton Sts. at 9:40 a. m. yesterday by a false alarm sounded from Box 18, they said.

PICKETS RUSH POLICE IN EXCHANGE STRIKES

Officers Swing Clubs After New York Outbreaks

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 30—Violence broke out in the New York stock and curb exchange strikes today as waves of pickets rushed police at the entrance to the stock exchange.

Men were knocked down, women screamed and some police were thrown to the sidewalk. One detective was picked up, his head bleeding.

Uniformed police swung clubs and calls were sent for ambulances, police emergency squads and patrol wagons.

The skirmish began just before 9 o'clock as the pickets lined up before the exchanges on the second day of the strike in the heart of the world financial center.

The number of pickets directly in front of the stock exchange entrance was limited and the disturbance started when men rushed police in an effort to augment the number.

Within six minutes the disturbance was ended and many persons were back on the sidewalk, their clothing torn.

BRADLEY, 9 GENERALS OPEN 4-DAY MEETING

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 30—The commanding generals of the six armies in the continental United States meet today with Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chief of staff, in the first of a series of conferences called for discussion of Army problems.

The meetings, which will last four days, will be closed.

Those attending are Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding Army field forces, and the commanding generals of the six continental armies: Gen. Courtney H. Hodges, First Army; Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, Second Army; Lt. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem, Third Army; Gen. Thomas T. Handy, Fourth Army; Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, Fifth Army, and Gen. Mark W. Clark, Sixth Army.

Also attending are Maj. Gen. Hobart R. Gay, commanding the military district of Washington, and Maj. Gen. S. L. R. Irwin, commanding the Fifth Corps.

When the meeting was announced last month, the Army said that it was the first opportunity Gen. Bradley had to meet with his commanders, although he worked with many of them during the war. It still is the first meeting of this sort, but recent developments have given it added significance.

House Approves Spot For Franco Spain In Foreign Aid Program

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 30—The House voted, 149 to 52, today to invite Franco Spain into the $6,205,000,000 foreign aid program.

The foreign affairs committee had agreed to include Spain. But Rep. Vorys (R) of Ohio, in charge of the aid bill, said the State Department is against it.

And whether the Senate will go along is another question.

In any event Spain could get in on the program only if she agreed like other participating countries to join in a European recovery program of co-operation and self-help.

Spain now is named specifically as eligible to qualify under the bill before the House. Eastern European nations are not.

The door is open for Russia and her satellite nations to come in under the same terms as Spain, by agreeing to terms of the program.

Rep. Hand (R) of New Jersey immediately offered an amendment to limit the European program to the 16 nations which have signed already to work together toward an economic comeback.

It would cancel the section which now mentions Spain and would permit Russia and her satellites to come in if they agree to play ball.

Specific inclusion of Spain would have financial implications. The way the program is set up, the European program would be distributed among 16 nations.

5 HURT IN COLLISION OF 2 PALESTINE CARS

Driver Fined After Mishap On State Route 170

Special To The Review.

EAST PALESTINE, March 30—Five persons were injured, none seriously, when two East Palestine cars crashed Monday at 10:30 p. m. on State Route 170 near here.

State Highway Patrolmen reported that a car driven by Paul R. McCowin, 25, East Palestine R. D. 2, crashed into the rear of a car driven by Leonard W. Barnhouse, 48, of 582 West Clark St., as both cars traveled toward this community.

Mr. McCowin received cuts about the face and head; Mr. Barnhouse suffered a back injury and shock; Eugene Thompson, 21, of 299 Park Ave., a passenger in the McCowin car, suffered facial cuts and bruises; Mrs. Myrtle Barnhouse, 46, wife of Mr. Barnhouse, suffered shock and bruises, and Earl Barnhouse, 15, their son, sustained a hand injury.

McCowin was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Earl Spalding of East Palestine and fined $30 and costs on a charge of reckless driving.

None of the injured was hospitalized although Mr. Barnhouse probably will be X-rayed today to determine the extent of his injuries, police said.

ON-SPOT PROBES SPEED DECISION ON STEEL PLANT

WAA, House Group To Visit Tucker, Republic Firms In Fight Over Mill

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 30—War Assets Administration officials plan an on-the-scene investigation this week, hoping to resolve a dispute over who will get a giant surplus steel plant in Cleveland.

The Republic Steel Corp., which now leases the facilities, and the Tucker Automobile Corp. of Chicago, both want the plant. They have been involved in a prolonged argument.

A WAA spokesman announced last night that four or five members of the WAA's general board will visit the Tucker plant in Chicago tomorrow and the Cleveland works Thursday.

He said there is a likelihood of a decision on the steel plant's disposal shortly after this investigation.

Meanwhile, a House subcommittee checking into leases on government-owned plants also began an on-the ground probe. Rep. Bender (R) of Ohio, subcommittee chairman, revealed investigators now are looking into the Cleveland situation.

Rep. Bender said Rep. McCormack (D) of Massachusetts requested the investigation. Congressmen report receiving thousands of letters and telegrams supporting both bidders.

Preston B. Tucker, head of the Tucker firm, offered to buy the steel mill—which cost the government $28,000,000 — for $8,000,000, with 20 per cent down and the balance over 10 years at 4 per cent interest.

Republic bid $4,748,000 cash for the by-product coke-oven and offered to lease pig-iron facilities on a production basis, with an option to purchase for $7,669,000.

When Mr. Tucker made his offer he charged that "Big Steel and auto lobbies" were blocking his attempted purchase. C. M. White, Republic president, asserted that if Mr. Tucker was awarded the plant hundreds of small companies depending on Republic for pig iron would suffer "disastrous" effects.

The Cleveland mill has an estimated annual capacity of 450,000 tons of pig iron and 395,000 tons of coke.

C. & O. SETS RECORDS BY FREIGHT BUSINESS

By The United Press.

CLEVELAND, March 30 — The "greatest freight business" in its history last year boosted net income of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway to $35,387,327, President Robert J. Bowman told stockholders today.

In 1946, the C. & O. earned $28,872,066, equal to $3.55 a common share. The 1946 earnings were equal to $4.44 a share.

The 70th annual report, the first covering all operations since the line merged with Pere Marquette last June, said that total receipts were $321,810,928, an increase of 27 per cent over 1946.

"Yet gain in net income was less spectacular, because receipts were offset by increased prices and wages," Mr. Bowman said.

For example, he said, the pay roll for the line's 41,769 employees last year was 21 per cent higher than in 1946, while fuel, material and supplies cost 39 per cent more than during the previous year.

Mr. Bowman said that the two temporary freight rate increases granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission "partly offset the pronounced rise" in costs. He said he hopes that when the temporary increases expire June 30, the ICC will grant "a permanent rate increase that will recognize adequately present-day operating costs".

To set the all-time freight-carrying record, the C. & O. moved 134,342,939 tons of cargo, a 17 per cent increase over the previous year.

Two Hot Labor Issues

Taft-Hartley Rule, 'Open Shop', To Be Studied By Supreme Court

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 30—The Supreme Court agreed yesterday to rule on two of the hottest labor issues of the times:

▶The Taft-Hartley law's ban on political expenditures by unions. A District Court has held the ban is unconstitutional.

▶State laws against the closed shop.

With presidential nominating conventions coming in June and July and voting in November, the time the court takes to make up its mind can become nearly as important in immediate effect as the final ruling.

The court took no emergency steps toward speed. It set argument for April 26.

The appeal was carried up by the government after Judge Ben Moore in United States District Court here held the Taft-Hartley section violates the Constitutional guarantees of free speech, press and assembly.

IN THE finding, Judge Moore threw out charges that the C.I.O. and its president, Philip Murray, violated the law by printing an article in the C.I.O. News endorsing Edward Garmantz of Baltimore as Democratic candidate for Congress last July. In a deliberate test of the Taft-Hartley ban, 1,000 extra copies of the union paper were distributed in Baltimore, just before the election, which Mr. Garmatz won.

In appealing to the high court, the government contended Congress has the right to "surround the entire election process with such rules and regulations as it deems necessary to secure free and honest elections".

The C.I.O. argued that the law violated its members' rights and did the organization special damage because the C.I.O. seeks "to speak in the political arena for millions of its members who have joined together for the precise purpose of achieving through group action what as individuals they are powerless to do".

THE AMERICAN Federation of Labor appealed two cases on the closed shop issue—one from Arizona and one from North Carolina. Numerous other states have laws which will be affected by the decision.

A.F.L. attorneys raised the same issues in both actions, charging violation of the right of contract, denial of due process of law and restraint of the right of free speech and assembly.

The North Carolina law was passed last year. It forbids agreements between employers and unions to restrict employment to union members.

Arizona voters approved their constitutional anti-closed shop amendment at the 1946 election. It provides that no person shall be denied the opportunity to get or keep a job because he is not a member of a labor union.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

RAILWAYS AGREE TO 15½ CENTS AS URGED BY BOARD

Officials Of Union, However, Admit Disappointment At Recommended Boost

By The United Press.

CHICAGO, March 30 — The nation's railroads today accepted a fact-finding board's recommendation for a 15½-cent hourly wage increase for three operating brotherhoods, but union officials said they were "seriously disappointed" by the board's decision.

The railroads sent a telegram to the unions last night asking for a meeting with union representatives to put the recommendations into effect.

Alvanley Johnston, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, most powerful of the three unions, said that the unions are "not prepared to meet with the carriers right now".

He said that union wage and rules committees will study the proposals when they meet at Cleveland tomorrow.

The three brotherhoods previously had voted to strike if the carriers did not meet their demands for a 30 per cent wage increase and improved working conditions.

Mr. Johnson, David R. Robertson of the Locomotive Enginemen and Firemen and A. J. Glover of the Switchmen's Union of North America issued a joint statement after receiving the board's proposals yesterday.

"We received official copies of the board's report today," the statement said. "We are seriously disappointed by its failure to give due consideration to current living costs as well as many of our requests for improved working conditions."

The increase recommended by the panel was the same as that previously offered by the railroads.

The three unions rejected the offer, but two other operating brotherhoods, the trainmen and conductors, have accepted. All 17 non-operating unions approved the same increase previously.

The trainmen and the conductors met in Cleveland yesterday, however, to consider making new demands.

Mr. Johnston said that tomorrow's meeting of the wage and rules committees will open discussions of the proposals, but that policy will be determined when chairmen from all the union locals, about 300 in all, meet at Cleveland next Monday.

Rx HAS A GREATER MEANING TO YOUR "PEOPLES" PHARMACISTS

"Rx" on your physician's prescription blank is a symbol which stands for the Latin word "recipe" and simply means "take."

To your "Peoples" Pharmacist this symbol also means . . . "take the ingredients specified on a prescription in the quantities indicated and compound them into a medicine."

TO YOUR "PEOPLES" PHARMACISTS RX ALSO MEANS:

"Take only the FINEST QUALITY ingredients as supplied us by the nation's renowned pharmaceutical houses and compound them for use in accordance with the doctor's instructions."

"Take the KNOWLEDGE, EXPERIENCE, SKILL AND ACCURACY of your professional training and apply these EXACTINGLY in preparing every prescription." "Take the time and care to DOUBLE-CHECK every prescription for accuracy—as there can be no compromise with accuracy in a Peoples-prepared prescription."

In Plain Words

by James Marlow

WASHINGTON, March 30 — "John L. Lewis . . . quotes the Bible, Shakespeare and Plato with ease. . . ."

A Washington paper said that on Sunday. And on Monday Big John came through. He wrote a note:

"Sir:

"No action has been taken by this writer or the United Mine Workers of America, as such, which would fall within the purview of the oppressive statute under which you seek to function. Without indulging in analysis, it is a logical assumption that the cavilings of the bar and bench in their attempts to explicate this infamous enactment will consume a tedious time."

James Marlow

What he meant was:

"I'm staying away because I haven't done anything—and neither have my miners—that's covered by the law. The lawyers will chew up a lot of time splitting hairs over what that law means."

But John, who pulls on the language like taffy, stretched it out. It was his way of telling the President's fact-finding board he wouldn't be around to talk about his tiff with the coal mine owners.

The Taft-Hartley law, now 9 months old, says the President can set up fact-finders when there's a big strike in a big industry.

But John says his miners are not striking, they're just not working. And he doesn't like the Taft-Hartley law. So he took a crack at it in his note.

—:—

BUT WHAT about Shakespeare? Some of the words in John's note were good enough for Shakespeare.

Like "tedious". John used it. So did Shakespeare in Richard II. Shakespeare never heard of John or Federal Court, but he said:

"As in a theater, the eyes of men,

"After a well-graced actor leaves the stage,

"Are idly bent on him that enters next,

"Thinking his prattle to be tedious . . ."

John, who's been called quite an actor, could "enter next" in Federal Court today. When he failed to appear yesterday, the fact-finders got a federal judge to order John to tell the court why.

John was being good Shakespeare when he used "statute" instead of law. Shakespeare couldn't have been thinking of the Taft-Hartley law or any federal law or even John when he said:

"He arrests him on it;

"And follows close the rigour of the statute,

"To make him an example."

NO OTHER labor leader has tested the Taft-Hartley law the way John is doing now. If he doesn't show up in court, or his lawyers for him, the judge can, as Shakespeare said, make an example—by jailing him for contempt.

But it's not clear whether Shakespeare would have O.K.'d the way John pulls and tugs on the language.

Sometimes an overload of words troubled Shakespeare. In King John, he said:

"Zounds! I never so beethump'd with words,

"Since I first called my brother's father dad."

And it's a lead-pipe cinch Plato would have been unhappy about John's style. The Greek philosopher said pretty plainly: "Beauty of style and harmony and grace and good rhythm depend on simplicity."

And even though John's a student of the Bible, when he wrote that note to the board he must have forgotten that the Book of Micah said:

"Write the vision and make it plain upon tables, that he may run that readeth it."

You can't run and read John. But who's John writing for: The board, the public or his miners? Maybe it's the miners.

They have plenty of time to sit down and read him. They're not doing anything right now.

Global Affairs

by DeWitt Mackenzie

THE INTER-AMERICAN conference which is opening today in ancient Bogota, Colombia, is regarded by many diplomatic observers as the most important meeting of its kind since the first session at Washington in 1890 when the Pan-American Union was organized.

DeWitt Mackenzie

Its importance lies in two reasons: The world crisis caused by the fight between Bolshevism and democracy calls for an overhauling of hemispheric solidarity; Latin America is on the move and has the urge for economic and political development.

So the 21 republics meeting in the Colombian capital—a setting enriched by 400 years of history—are hopeful of making the inter-American system the strongest association of peace-loving nations. That is their hope—but is is recognized that the going may not be easy, for there are numerous controversial problems to be solved.

THERE ARE many subjects on the agenda, but in the main they can be summed up under three objectives:

▶To increase economic co-operation among the 21 nations.

▶To reorganize the 58-year-old Pan-American Union as a regional branch of the United Nations.

▶To set up machinery for settling disputes among American nations.

In short, the conference is aiming at the creation of what has been described as the "Little United Nations" of the Western Hemisphere. And that's a mighty interesting development when you consider the budding union of western European nations, since the two groups presumably will complement each other indirectly.

SO THE Bogota conference takes in a wide range of economic, political and military questions. From the standpoint of the Latin-American countries, the economic aspect is the most important. They have come to the time when they want to develop their industries, whereas their economy thus far has been based on their role as suppliers of raw materials for the big industrial nations.

This economic urge naturally involves outside capital and that presumably would come largely from the United States. These economic desires have met with general approval from Washington and private capital in the United States.

However, America is asking that the Latin countries remove existing restrictions on freedom of action by foreign enterprises. These restrictions are hampering foreign investments which the U. S. would like to see. A heavy argument may develop over this.

On The March

by Arthur Edson

WASHINGTON — Women bless them, are on the march.

They want a new amendment to the Constitution—an equal rights amendment. And since women are persistent creatures, they may get it.

This amendment would declare:

"Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any state on account of sex."

Maybe you thought women had equality now, or possibly even more so.

But there are 1,000 laws which set women apart from men.

Some states limit the hours, and the places, a woman can work. In some towns a woman can't teach school if she marries.

Many states have different ages at which a boy and a girl can marry. In New Hampshire, for instance, a girl may marry at 13, while husbands under 14 must be thrown back.

An amendment would wipe out all these differences.

Obviously not all women want to do this. They say these are protective laws and that if the amendment were passed, women would lose more than they would gain.

These objectors would prefer to have a commission set up to look into the whole problem.

The National Women's Party doesn't agree with this at all. It says it has the support of women's organizations with a combined membership of 11,500,000.

Since 11,500,000 votes are no small item in an election year, the party thinks the amendment has a chance to pass Congress.

—:—

TWO YEARS ago the amendment got a majority vote in the Senate, but lacked the two-thirds edge needed for proposed constitutional amendments.

Even if Congress approves, three-fourths of the states must say, "Me, too," before it becomes legal.

Members of the national women's party appeared before a House judiciary subcommittee recently, and I dropped around to hear the arguments.

A little old woman, as perky as a Jenny Wren, was speaking.

"I had five children when my husband died," she was saying, "and the oldest child was 7. I have made my own way, as a ticket-taker on a railroad.

"Let me tell you that we working women don't want any special privileges. We don't want any protection.

"We working women can take care of ourselves."

She sat down, two women rushed up and kissed her, and Miss Anita Pollitzer, national chairman of the party, obligingly scribbled the little old lady's name for me.

"Mrs. Mary Murray of Brooklyn," wrote Miss Pollitzer. "Fine woman."

MISS POLLITZER, who when she isn't out fighting for women's rights is Mrs. E. C. Edson of New York, was the next speaker.

"It's sad to think that I've spent 25 years working for this amendment. And yet you can go down the street and look at the Supreme Court. There you can see the inscription, 'Equal justice under law". That's all we're asking for, gentlemen, equal justice."

Miss Pollitzer told me later that many of the women in the room had fought for women's suffrage, too. She pointed out Mrs. Robert Walker, Mrs. Theodore Forbes, Miss Gladys Houston Grenier of Baltimore and Mrs. Betty Gram Swing of Westport, Conn.

Mrs. Swing went to jail for picketing the White House. "A horrible messy cell," she said. "It was so dirty I had to stand up all night."

Mrs. Forbes was arrested, too.

"We burned the president in effigy," she explained. 'The effigy was just a little old thing, no bigger than a doll."

What president?

"President Wilson. I hated to do it. He was such a nice man."

And she smiled fondly at the memory.

A Matter Of Obscured Vowels In English

IT IS NECESSARY, about every two years, to write a column on the obscured or neutral sound of vowels in unaccented syllables. The Colby symbol for the obscure or neutral sound is "uh", as SOE-fuh for soft, uh-KOUNT for account, PROP-uh-GAN'duh for propaganda, etc.

A few readers (almost invariably elderly people) insist on interpretating "uh" as an animal-like grunt, and scold me roundly for my ignorance and slovenliness. Says G. E. Seymour of South Westmoreland Ave., Los Angeles: "It is time you stopped teaching this sloppy pronunciation. Are you trying to get us back to the Indian Ugh? Stup ut Culby und spuk Unglish fur uh chunge."

SUCH READERS do not know the facts of their own language or how to read their dictionaries.

The dictionaries use various methods of indicating the obscure or neutral vowel. Some of the symbols. I shall admit, are confusing or unintelligible to the average dictionary reader. The most confusing symbols are thosse italic characters used by the Merriam Webster dictionaries and their imitators.

But no modern dictionary fails to give full sanction to the obscure vowel sound in unaccented syllables.

MY SYMBOL "uh" is in no way a grunt-like sound. Nor has it any association with the sound usually spelled "ugh". My "uh" simply stands for the proper and natural neutral vowel sound which has been heard in English for centuries, and which is recognized by all competent authorities. My "uh" is no more a grunt than are "ah, oh, eh".

MAN GET 10 LASHES FOR BEATING OF WIFE

By The Associated Press

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 30—Richard Hall, 25-year-old Negro, was lashed 10 times with a cat-o-nine tails yesterday for beating his wife.

It was the first lashing sentence imposed here in decades. The punishment for wife beating remains on Maryland law books from colonial times despite several attempts in the General Assembly to remove it. Lashes have been administered only two or three times in the last 10 years.

Sheriff Joseph Alton struck the blows, shook Hall's hand when it was over and sent him home.

EASTER LILIES AND LIGHTED candelabra decorated the altar of the First Presbyterian Church Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, when Miss Betty Swickard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Swickard of West Sixth St., became the bride of John Leeper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Leeper of Hookstown.

Mrs. Jessie Hall Kaufman, church organist, played the nuptial music and used the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrim" for the professional, and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" for the recessional. Miss Ethel Peterson sang two hymns and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street-length gown of aqua crepe with black accessories and her shoulder corsage was of white orchids. She is a graduate of East Liverpool High School with the Class of 1941 and works at the Homer Laughlin China Co., Plant 6.

Mrs. Richard Tompkins, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a black costume trimmed in gray. Her shoulder corsage was of pink roses. Mr. Tompkins served as Mr. Leeper's best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for 50 guests was held in the home of the bride's parents. The buffet table was decorated with white lilies, candelabra and a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Leeper are spending their honeymoon in lake cities and upon their return will reside in a newly-furnished apartment on Ravine St.

The Family Circle

By GARRY MYERS

It's Fine When Children, Parents Read Together

OFTEN IN THIS COLUMN I have urged parents to read to the young child, beginning as soon as he will look at a picture for a few moments at a stretch. And a good many thousand parents have written me for my selected list of books from which to read to the baby and young child. Sometimes, thought not often enough, I have advised reading to the child for several years after he enters school.

"Dear Dr. Meyers: What do you think of reading to older children? My son is 8 and I've been reading to him ever since he was old enough to look at the pictures. Now he is interested in books far to advanced for him to read himself, so we have continued such books as Alice in Wonderland, Through The Looking Glass, Robin Hood, Smokey, Anderson and Grimm's, Snow White, The Yearling and now Huckleberry Finn. He reads avidly himself from the Weekly Reader, several children's magazines, a few comic books. However, he would much rather have me read one of the "more exciting"—as he calls them—books, than to read himself. He is a top student in the third grade and has A in reading.

"WILL MY reading to him spoil his interest in reading himself? We never force him, but let him choose what I'm to read. I might add that he was in bed six months when he was six with rheumatic fever and has had his activity curtailed until recently."

I write this mother: Having read much to this child in his early years, you found that reading to him even at school age during his long illness very useful to him. Even if he had not been ill, your contiuning to read to him was excellent. We read to our children long after they entered school. Although one of them was a bit slow in getting the hang of reading during the first few grades he soon thereafter took a spurt at reading suddenly in the midst of a favorite story with easy vocabulary. Then he impatiently would dig it out for himself.

OCCASIONALLY a youngster read to a great deal from books more advanced than his school readers will incline not to struggle hard to master reading skills himself. Yet this is no argument for ceasing altogether. But because he has been read to so much he has a powerful urge to read to himself later.

You wondered if your son would enjoy reading later the harder books you now are reading to him. Our own children did. One of our boys was particularly fortunate to have several teachers in the upper grades, even in high school, who read to the class.

On a number of occasions he talked with enthusiasm about their reading. Often in high school he would read to me some selection he enjoyed in Shakespeare and the like, telling me how beautiful it was. He and I had many enjoyable times reading to each other some of the classics.

It's wonderful when parent and children read to each other. For gaining in force and ease of expression there's no better way than reading aloud from choice selections. That's the way Lincoln did it even after he was grown.

To Your Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

A Trouble That Demands Speedy Attention

A SYMPTOM which frightens patients is often a blessing in disguise because it sends them post-haste to the doctor for expert help. Hematuria, which means the presence of blood in the urine, is such a symptom, especially in young children. And luckily so, for when such a situation exists, no time should be lost in finding and treating the disorder which is causing it.

The search may be complicated, for blood in the urine may result from many different diseases, some chiefly affecting the kidney and bladder and others being of a more general nature. The doctor's search for causes will be somewhat conditioned by the age of the patient.

In a child, for instance, he will, as a rule, first suspect nephritis or kidney inflammation, and pyelitis or inflammation of the part of the kidney which the urine collects before it passes into the bladder. When these are ruled out by diagnostic tests, he probably will think next of rickets and scurvy, both of which have been known to cause this symptom.

IN OBSCURE cases he also will consider the possibility of some disease affecting the blood itself, such as urpura in which there is bleeding into the skin and membranes of the body; hemophilia, in which the clotting power of the blood is affected. And internal hemorrhages are common, or leukemia, in which there is a great increase in the number of white cells.

In young and middle-aged adults, the presence of blood in the urine, also may indicate pyelitis and nephritis, but here the doctor must think of certain other possible causes as well. Among them are tuberculosis of the kidney, stone in the bladder ureter or kidney and infections of the urinary tract.

In late middle-aged and elderly persons, long-continued inflammation of the kidney and high blood pressure may be responsible for blood in the urine. However, at this period of life, tumors of the kidney or bladder are more often present than in younger persons, and these tumors are frequently responsible for the occurrence of blood in the urine.

If the blood comes from the bladder, it is usually brighter in color than that which comes from the kidney, pelvis or ureter. Fever, together with the bleeding, usually indicates some type of infection.

Pain and frequency in emptying the bladder suggest some condition affecting the lower part of the urinary tract, such as bladder inflammation, stone in the bladder, tuberculosis, enlargement of the prostate gland or tumor.

PAIN in the sides, passing down into the groin, often indicates a chronic infection, or a stone in the ureter or canal leading from the kidney to the bladder.

Thus, it may be seen that blood in the urine can be due to a large variety of ailments, many of which are serious. Hence, there should be no delay in seeking the advice of a doctor when blood appears in the urine. The condition requires thorough and careful study on his part to determine the source of the bleeding, because it is only after the cause is found that intelligent treatment can be given.

Lengthy Sick Leaves, Vacations Granted To Federal Workers Hit

By The United Press.

COLUMBUS, March 30 — The Ohio Chamber of Commerce yesterday criticized "generous" sick leaves and long annual vacations allowed federal employees and urged immediate correction of the "abuse".

The Chamber said in a statement that the expense of long annual vacations and "generous" sick leaves allowed federal employees is extremely costly to taxpayers.

The federal government, a Chamber analysis showed, allows employees in general 26 working days a year for vacations, whereas the state of Ohio allows its employees only 11 working days annually for vacations.

Both federal and state employees are allowed 15 days annual sick leave. The Ohio Chamber said, however, that a recent report of the Senate committee on appropriations indicates extensive abuse of the right help by federal employees to accumulate sick leave to a total of 90 days.

I. T. U. WILL TRY TO END STRIKES AGAINST PAPERS

Union Plans To Submit New Contracts That Omit 'Unlawful' Features

By The United Press.

HAMMOND, Ind., March 30 — The A.F.L. International Typographical Union announced yesterday that it will attempt to end current strikes of printers against newspapers. It will offer publishers new contracts omitting features declared unlawful by a Federal Court order.

While the I.T.U. called for a renewal of negotiations with struck newspapers—with fewer union demands—there was no comment on whether a quick end of the Chicago strike and others is expected.

Publishers Hold Comment

Publishers made no immediate comment on the new position taken by the I.T.U.

The court order to be used as an interpretation of Taft-Hartley law requirements in new negotiations, a union attorney said, is the temporary injunction of last Saturday issued by Judge Luther M. Swygert.

Judge Swygert's order restrains the I.T.U. from supporting strikes which are in violation of the Taft-Hartley act.

A statement issued jointly by the I.T.U. and counsel for the National Labor Relations Board said:

"The international union agreed to recommend such a form of agreement (between publishers and printers) which does not contain any discriminatory provisions based upon union membership or nonmembership, to its local unions as a basis for negotiations."

Previous Advice Shelved

The local unions will be instructed "to disregard advice previously given and to enter into agreements for a definite term", the statement said.

"It is understood that negotiations will begin, looking toward the termination of any present strikes in the newspaper publishing industry," the statement said, "and that support by the I.T.U. of current strikes will be contingent upon the striking local unions' full compliance with new instructions to be issued by the international union in accordance with (Judge Swygert's) decree.

"The outline of a form agreement was arrived at, which might be offered as a basis for negotiations, not in conflict with the terms of the decree."

At present, locals of the I.T.U. are involved in strikes in at least nine cities. The oldest strike is that against six major Chicago newspapers, which began Nov. 24.

UNDERWATER BLASTS TO TEST THREE SHIPS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 30—The Navy is going to test the hulls of three ships with underwater explosions.

Conventional non-atomic explosives will be used, the Navy said today. The tests will begin next month in Chesapeake Bay.

A series of explosions will be fired near the ships over five-day periods about a month apart during April, May and June.

One of the ships, the attack transport Niagara, was part of the "guinea pig" fleet in the Pacific atomic bomb tests two years ago. The other hulls used will be the partially-built aircraft carrier Reprisal and the light cruiser Newark. Work on each was ordered halted in the late stages of the war.

SPEEDED DRIVE SEEN AGAINST ALIEN REDS

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 30—Justice Department officials predict that the government's deportation drive on alien Communists will gain force soon, with many more important arrests in prospect.

The roundup of suspected alien subversives, first of its kind since the prewar crackdown of Nazis, has resulted in more than 30 deportation arrests within the last few months.

Department officials, however, described these arrests as "only the beginning" of a highly-geared campaign to rid the nation of alien Communists.

EXPORT LICENSE RACKETS BARED

Senators Hear Of Machine That Forges U.S. Mark

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 30—Senate investigators heard testimony yesterday that it is "general practice" in New York City to buy and sell customs declarations and export licenses.

They were told, too, about a perforating machine in private hands which can simulate the marks the Commerce Department puts on export licenses to validate them.

After the hearing, Chairman Martin (R) of Pennsylvania of a Senate small business subcommittee said the group had unearthed evidence on so many "illegal procedures" and "forged licenses and declarations" that its duty is to go deeper into the subject.

The committee is investigating foreign shipments of items in short supply here. Flour and fats and oils are among the commodities involved in yesterday's maze of testimony. Such commodities go out legally only with Commerce Department approval.

An export license from the department is required before a customs declaration can be obtained. A declaration in turn is needed to send such goods out of the country.

The testimony about traffic in the documents was given by Joseph I. Lopez, secretary-treasurer of the Gillen Shipping Corp. of New York, and John A. (Jack) Quinn of New York, an exporter doing business as the Keystone Soap & Chemical Co. and the Daja Corp.

Mr. Quinn also testified that his uncle, Thomas P. Quinn, had the perforating machine. He said he has been trying unsuccessfully to locate the machine to have it "destroyed". He explained that he didn't want his uncle to use it because he was "supposed to be an employee of mine". Thus far the committee hasn't been able to find Thomas P. Quinn, although it has photographic samples of the machine's work.

Peter Annison, official of the Tri-Con Import & Export Co., of New York, testified he had paid Thomas P. Quinn, in cash and checks, more than $17,000 for customs declarations to send flour to South America.

AUSTIN WILL ASK U.N. FOR PALESTINE TRUCE

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 30—Warren R. Austin is set to ask the United Nations today to order a truce in Palestine.

The chief United States delegate also has a resolution in his pocket calling for a special session of the U. N. assembly on the Palestine problem. His aids said both proposals are ready for presentation to the Security Council this afternoon.

Cancer Fund Dance Wednesday At V.F.W. To Run From 9 To 1

RAE THOMPSON
Vocalist with orchestra.

Rae Thompson will be featured in vocal parts when Paul Campbell's orchestra plays Wednesday night at the V. F. W. Auditorium in a benefit dance for the local Cancer Fund.

The dance is sponsored by the Business & Professional Women's Club as the opening gun of the cancer campaign. It will be followed by personal solicitations of large donors, a mail canvass, coin boxes in downtown establishments, and a Tag Day toward the end of the month.

Money raised is shared with the American Cancer Society, 50 per cent remaining in the county and 50 per cent going to the society for its research work on cancer.

Mrs. Ethel Lynn Wambaugh is chairman of the local campaign. Mrs. Anne Hagan is chairman for Wednesday night's dance, which will run from 9 until 1.

CLEVELAND, March 30—Mack Gordon, president of the Linder Co., who died last June of injuries received in a plane crash, left an estate with a gross value of $507,313.

DEER

as the front window shattered. He thought a car had crashed into the home.

—:—

HE RAN TO THE HEAD of the stairs in time to see a tawny back and a white tail flash by in the hallway.

A daughter, Mary Hadley, who had been downstairs a moment before, screamed that she had seen something. He cries aroused her sister, Ruth Hadley.

All waited while Mr. Hadley dared the unknown.

Grabbing a mop to do battle with the beast, he went down stairs cautiously—believing an escaped jaguar or some animal of the "big cat" family had invaded their home.

As he reached the first floor, there was another loud scraping of hoofs on the hardwood floor, the second crash of breaking glass, then stunned silence.

Mr. and Mrs. Hadley still didn't know what had happened.

THERE WAS A brisk wind blowing through tattered curtains and no glass in the windows.

They found broken glass all over the floor, ripped lace curtains at the living room window, an upset sidetable and broken lamp, blood spots on the floor—and tell-tale hairs on the green overstuffed chair.

An out-of-breath taxi driver, Virgil Robinson, informed them they had just been host to the deer.

The doe had bounded across Bradshaw Ave. and was almost struck by the taxi of the Veterans' Cab Co.

Sally Hodge, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hodge, who live across the street at 923 Bradshaw Ave., also was an eye-witness. She happened to be looking out the window as the deer crossed the street.

MR. HADLEY called police and Patrolman Henry Hackathorn arrived. They found the animal's two-toed tracks in the soft front lawn. They were several feet apart, indicating the frightened animal was leaping wide as it crossed the lawn and into the Hadley home.

It had to jump about six feet to go through the front window. It left no marks on the sash, it had crashed through with one bound.

But there were no tracks in the back yard, not even under the broken living room window. The deer probably hurtled the fence and small retaining wall in the rear and disappeared up the alley to Laura Ave. and on up over the hill to Vine St.

The cab driver said he had to stop quickly to avoid striking the deer. His passenger, Elbert Wynn, watched as the animal entered the home.

Witnesses said the deer was about three feet high and probably weighed 100 pounds.

—:—

THE ANIMAL probably was cut about the forelegs in the plunge through the glass. There were blood stains at several places on the carpet and hallway.

The entire neighborhood was aroused by the commotion and youngsters dropped morning games to stage deer hunts. But there was no further trace of the animal.

Mr. and Mrs. Hadley spent the morning replacing windows and sweeping up. He estimated at least $25 damage in broken storm and window glass, not counting Mrs. Hadley's injured feelings when she observed the ripped curtains and drapes.

Deer are frequently reported in rural sections adjoining the city but this was the first ever to invade the paved streets. It may have been chased by dogs down off "the knob" above Bradshaw, neighbors believe.

And if it made Vine St. without trouble, it probably went down the hill across Pennsylvania Ave. and to the river shore.

SUPREME COURT TO REVIEW ICC'S COAL RATE STEP

Shipment From Indiana And Kentucky Concerned In Action Facing Study

Special To The Review.

WASHINGTON, March 30 — The Supreme Court yesterday agreed to review an Interstate Commerce Commission order prescribing freight rates for coal shipped from northern Kentucky and Indiana to northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin.

The 1945 rate order was applied to the court by the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad and some Indiana mine operators.

It required the railroads to cancel rates they had proposed. The ICC found that the proposed rate would result in unjust discrimination to some of the mines from which the coal was shipped and to the destination points of the coal.

The ICC said, however, it would approve rates filed in accordance with its order. The case was appealed after the U. S. District Court for southern Indiana upheld the order.

Western Union Loses

The high tribunal denied a hearing to Western Union on its appeal from rulings that the company violated the wage-hour laws in employment of agents in eight Kentucky towns.

The suit involved Western Union's arrangements for establishing agencies in the towns. Upon the complaint of the federal wage-hour administration, a federal District Court in Kentucky and the Sixth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled the telegraph company paid substandard wages and demanded substandard arrangements with its agents.

The company maintained that the agent did not fall within the scope of the Fair Labor Standards Act. It also maintained that persons hired by the agents were exempt from the act under the 1947 portal-to-portal amendments.

The Kentucky towns are Paris, Versailles, Nicholasville, Morehead, Irvine, Harrodsburg, Georgetown and Cynthiana.

Other Actions Taken

Among other actions, the court:

►Held unconstitutional a New York state law banning the sale of publications made up of stories of "bloodshed, lust and crime", thereby reversing the conviction of Murray Winters, New York City book dealer, sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $100 for violating the law. The decision came in a 6-to-3 opinion.

Justice Frankfurter wrote the dissent. He was joined by Justices Jackson and Burton. Justice Frankfurter said the majority ruling struck down similar laws in these states: Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Washington and Wisconsin. New York is the 20th state affected.

In addition, Justice Frankfurter said, Colorado, Indiana, South Dakota and Texas have similar statutes which may not necessarily be made unconstitutional by yesterday's decision.

►Divided 5-4 in upholding the murder convictions of two New York City Negroes by a special "blue ribbon" jury. The Negroes said the special jury violated their constitutional rights. They also contended Negroes were "intentionally excluded" from the trial jury list.

►Refused to review a suit by the Matlaw Corp. of Hammond, Ind., seeking to compel the War Damage Corp. to return 225 million dollars to six million property owners. This amount was collected by the corporation in premiums on war damage insurance policies during World War II. The corporation paid damage losses of only $223,000.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall was greeted with Communist posters depicting him as a Nazi when he arrived here yesterday. One set read "Heil Marshall" and was decorated with Nazi swastikas. It was the only Communist manifestation.

A heavy guard was thrown around the presidential palace as delegates arrived. Officials said they fear a possible Communist demonstration.

OHIOANS JOIN IN DRIVE FOR VOTE ON OLEO TAX

By The United Press.

WASHINGTON, March 30—The fight to force a vote on the bill to repeal federal taxes on colored margarine gained momentum today when Rep. Ramey (R) of Ohio joined other Ohio congressmen in signing a petition to have the bill brought up for a vote.

"I have had hundreds of letters from housewives urging that these taxes be repealed and I'm willing to have a vote on it," the Toledo representative said.

Other Ohioans who have signed the petition to discharge the agriculture committee of the bill to repeal the 10-cent-a-pound tax are Rep. Bender (R) of Cleveland and Democratic Reps. Feighan and Crosser, both of Cleveland, and Huber of Akron.

At least 218 members of the House must sign the petition before a vote of the full membership can be taken. A total of 156 have signed.

Accepts 7½% Raise

CANTON, March 30—The Independent electric service employee's' union of the Ohio Power Co.'s Canton division has accepted a previously-rejected pay boost of 7½ per cent. The group was the last of the power concern's seven divisions to agree to the offer.

Browns Sign Up Back

CLEVELAND, March 30—Wilbur (Dub) Jones, former Tulane University halfback, signed with the Cleveland Browns of the All-America Football Conference last night. Jones, who played with Brooklyn last fall, came to the Browns as part of a deal for draft rights to Michigan's Bob Chappuis.

Will Resurface Road

CANTON, March 30—A $120,000 project to resurface the north lane of the Canton-Massillon road has been approved by the State Highway Department. The work is expected to be completed this summer.

INDIANS RACK UP 7TH WIN IN ROW

Gettel And Muncrief Appear Ready To Toe Mound

By The Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz., March 30—Two members of the Cleveland Indians' "big five" mound staff promised some help today to fireballers Bob Feller and Bob Lemon.

Al Gettel and Bob Muncrief, a pair of veterans who are expected to take the hill regularly when Feller and Lemon are not engaged in winning their mythical games, combined yesterday for the Tribe's first shutout victory, 2-0, over the St. Louis Browns.

It was the seventh consecutive spring victory for the high-flying Redskins and their 11th triumph in 15 starts, tops for the American League.

TAMPA, Fla. — The Cincinnati Reds, riding the crest of a four-game win streak, prepared today to tangle with the Phillies for the third time in the Grapefruit League.

Walker Cress and Kenny Raffensberger teamed yesterday to hold the St. Louis Cardinals to six hits while the Reds banged out a 4-2 victory.

FRESNO, Cal. — The New York Giants, who aren't supposed to have much pitching, could do some gloating today about their sophomore hurling star, Larry Jensen.

The lanky right-hander, who racked up 21 victories last year as a freshman, has worked 12 exhibition innings this spring without allowing an earned run. He pitched five of those frames yesterday, yielding four hits, as the Giants blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-0.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Judging from the action so far in spring training, the duel between the New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox in the American League this year will be long and bitter.

The Yanks and the Sox, regarded now as the league's top teams, battled to a 2-to-2 standstill yesterday in a 17-inning game that set a new record for American League teams in training and tied the major league exhibition mark. The game was halted by darkness after four hours and two minutes.

The population of the U. S. Pacific coast states, which, in 1930, made up about 6.7 per cent of the population of the United States, included 9.5 per cent of the nation's population in 1947.

OILERS AND KENTUCKY TO MEET WEDNESDAY

By The United Press.

NEW YORK, March 30—With absolutely no form sheets for guidance, the Phillips Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., today were ranked as heavy favorites to beat the University of Kentucky in the final round of the Olympic basketball tournament tryouts tomorrow night.

Actually, there will be little at stake in the game. Both Phillips and Kentucky now are assured of having five men each on the Olympic squad.

But the game derives interest from the fact that it will be the most heralded clash in court history of a National A. A. U. champion and a national collegiate champion. The Oilers, A. A. U. titlists, are picked to win easily.

The Oklahoma quintet has impressed the fans here with its apparently unlimited power and ability to make the score whatever it chooses. In trouncing the Denver Nuggets in the semi-finals last night, 69 to 40, the Oilers won as they pleased without being extended.

Bob (Foothills) Kurland, the 7-foot redhead, poked in 21 points for the Oilers and was literally their tower of strength under the backboards. Six-foot, seven-inch Gordon (Shorty) Carpenter supported Kurland with 15 points.

Kentucky, a crowd-pleaser with its flashy, dashing style, ran roughshod over Baylor, 77 to 59, and thus repeated its victory in the finals of the N.C.A.A. tournament last week.

Six-foot, seven-inch Alex Groza looped in 33 points for Kaintuck before calling it a night, and Ralph Beard dropped in 13.

CLEVELAND CAN END PROVIDENCE SERIES

By International News Service.

Cleveland's Barons enter the Providence rink again tonight in what probably will be the final game in the opening series of the American Hockey League playoffs.

The Barons, undefeated in their last 30 starts, took the first three contests from the Reds in the best-of-seven series.

If the Cleveland skaters win, they will carry their undefeated streak into the league finals for the Calder Cup and the championship.

Roger Bessette, who has held the Rhode Island pucksters to three goals in just as many games, will be back on the job tonight in the Baron net.

After the Barons wrap up the series with the Reds, they will meet the winner of the series between the Buffalo Bisons and the New Haven Ramblers. The Bisons now lead in the best-of-three series. The second game is to be played tonight on New Haven ice.

In the National League, Toronto meets Boston again tonight in their best-of-seven series, New York takes on Detroit in the Empire City. Detroit leads the Rangers, 2-1, in the best-of-seven schedule.

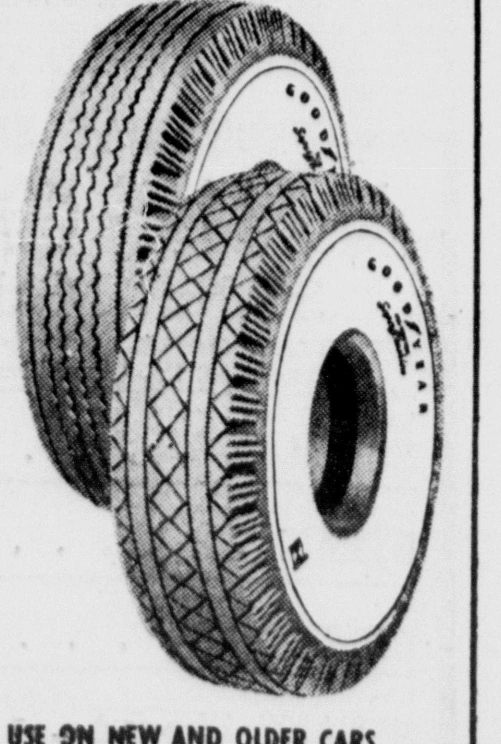
The Most Unusual Offer Ever Made In The Tire Business!!

YOUR MONEY BACK IF Super-Cushion TIRES DON'T GIVE YOU THE SOFTEST RIDE YOU'VE EVER HAD!

YOU RIDE...THEN YOU DECIDE!

Due to the demand for Super-Cushion tires we are able to make this unusual offer for only these few more days. Come in — we'll put a set of Super-Cushion tires and tubes on your car. Drive it for one week. Then, if you don't agree they give you a softer ride than any tire you've ever owned, we'll replace your old tires and tubes and give your money back. Super-Cushion is a remarkable new kind of tire. Bigger, softer than conventional tires and runs on only 24 pounds of air pressure. It is so superior that we can afford to make this amazing offer.

Super-Cushion TIRES BY GOODYEAR



Super-Cushions give you a remarkable new ease in car handling. Your car hugs the road, seems to float through traffic, to flow around curves.

Super-Cushions soak up crosswise jolts, soak up vibration. Results: less driving fatigue, less wear and tear on your car, fewer rattles, fewer repair bills.

Super-Cushions consistently average more mileage than the best standard tires. More — they make small cars ride like big ones . . . big cars ride better.

Super-Cushions run cooler; and because they're softer they "roll with the punch", are harder to cut, bruise or blow out.

Arrange for a Super-Cushion trial on your car today.

Owens Of Newell Upset Riverview; 13 Games Slated Tonight

1947 Champs To Make Their First Bow At 11

Forty-five squads remained in the running for the 23rd annual Tri-State tournament championship following Monday's opening blast of 15 games as one of the early favorites was jolted in the first major upset of the 1948 classic.

A fair turnout of fans waited impatiently until almost midnight to see the Riverview Florists, Pittsburgh's Sonny Boys, in action.

The Penn-Ohio League champs, one of the crack independent quints of the Smoky City, were heavily-favored to sweep by The Owens of Newell, who already had eliminated two rivals.

Loaded with ex-Newell High and East Liverpool High stars, the indefatigable Owens grabbed an early lead and held the upper hand all the way to squelch their highly-touted foes, 29-22. Another former Liverpool product, Don Bennett, was in a Sonny Boy suit, but it didn't trouble the smooth-working, accurate pumping Owens outfit.

They were the only team to win three games. Before squashing the Florists they ran up the biggest score of the evening in the opening game against Green Lane Cubs of Liverpool, 75-26, and then bounced the Scienceville Aces out in a mild upset, 32-15, in the 8th game.

Patsy's Cafe of Beaver Falls who was slated to appear last night to make a total of 16 games, couldn't get here and tournament officials altered tonight's schedule and announced 13 games will be run off instead of 12.

Firing opens at 6 with Patsy's meeting Columbiana Finance of Liverpool, winner over Parson's Coal of this city last night, 22-13, in tonight's final slated for midnight.

The defending champion Westminster College Titans, again flying the banner of Elks of Liverpool, will make their debut at 11 against the winner of the Game No. 21 slated for 8:15.

Other strong outfits billed for initial appearances include Liverpool's Legion Post 374 against Lowery's of this city, Circle Bar of Youngstown against Pittsburgh Royal Crown, a first-round survivor, the Cuyahoga Falls V. F. W., the New Brighton Legion and the Wheeling G. O. C.

Probably the classiest combination to see action last night, although the opposition could hardly be termed a test, the Warren Coaches, sponsored by Travelers Hotel, breezed by Herche's Drug of Chester, 45-17, after the Waite family had knocked out Knowles, 31-19.

Besides The Owens, the East End Legion of Liverpool was the only other team to win two games last night. They polished off Isaly's of Liverpool, 36-15, in the first and then came back to oust the Sewickley (Pa.) Yellow Jackets, 31-27.

In other games, Wilson's Super Market of Wellsville bumped the Chester Aces, 19-6, Lowery's Clippers clipped the Post Office Nixies, 24-10, Sanford Sales belted the Liverpool Police, 20-14, but then were jolted from the running by Leetsdale V. F. W., 35-15, and Wellsville Warden's Service bumped Taylor's Apes, 34-14, and Erlanger's of this city dropped the "Y" Junior Five by the way, 33-23, in the night's finale.

Don Lowe, former Potter star, and Bob Birch, ex-Newell flash, divided individual scoring laurels for the first night, each pumping in 16 points for the Owens in their rout of Green Lane Cubs.

In that startling eyelifter The Owens sprung on the Florists, they held quarter leads of 9-8, 15-11 and 22-15, and at one stage of the final period held an 11-point bulge.

Don Lowe's 11 counters sparked the winners. Feeney paced the Sonny Boys with 11. Bennett was held scoreless and Sidney Levine, great little, chunky guard of the crack Gurentz Packers two years ago and last year with the Ambridge A. C., also failed to dent the scoring column.

Bob Curran was the big noise for East End Legion in the first win with 11 points, while Stull sunk 14 markers to lead the locals in the second against Sewickley.

CANTON ENTRY IN TOWN EARLY

Ash Says He Wants To Get Use To Columbus Water

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, March 30—If Canton South's Wildcats don't win the Class A high school basketball championships this week-end, they can't blame lack of preparedness or lack of confidence.

Coach Charles E. (Red) Ash brought his Stark county squad to Columbus yesterday and worked out on the Aquinas High School floor—the earliest a team ever has arrived for the cage classic.

"We are serious about this thing," Ash said. "You know, 29 Stark county clubs have reached the state tournament, and several of them have gone to the final game, but none has ever won the Class A title.

"After the drubbing we gave Canton McKinley in the regional finals, and considering the schedule we played, we feel we are ready for Findlay. We know they've won 25 in a row. But we've won 23 of 24 and our opposition was pretty tough.

"We respect Findlay a lot, but we feel we're even with 'em in personnel and ability. The reason we came down early was because we heard the Columbus water sometimes affected the visiting teams. We want to get used to it before tournament time."

Ash said he had lined up a team of Columbus all-star high school players to scrimmage against his Wildcats to keep them on edge. He has workouts at Aquinas scheduled today and Wednesday, and the team will get its first look at the Coliseum at 11 a. m. Thursday.

The Wildcats meet Findlay's undefeated Trojans Friday night in the Class A semi-finals, following the Hamilton Catholic-Coshocton game in the afternoon.

Class B teams will take over the Coliseum floor Wednesday for practice sessions in preparation for Thursday's semi-finals.

Lima St. Rose (27-2) will appear at noon, Eaton (21-2) at 1:30 p. m., Glenford (35-1) at 3 p. m. and North Canton (23-5) at 4:30 p. m. North Canton is the 11th Stark county Class B team to reach the state meet, Canal Fulton winning in 1938 and North Canton in 1939.

The Class A squads get in their Coliseum practice rounds Thursday, with Hamilton Catholic (26-1) taking the floor at 8 a. m., Findlay (25-0) at 9:30, Canton South (23-1) at 11, and Coshocton (19-5) from 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Sandwiched between the Class A practice sessions will be the 2:30 p. m. semi-finals Class B clash between Eaton and Glenford, while Lima St. Rose meets North Canton at 8 p. m. The winners meet at 2:30 p. m. Saturday for the Class B crown won a year ago by Columbiana's Clippers. The Class A victors meet at 8 p. m. Saturday to see who replaces Middletown as king.

Glenford and Lima St. Rose in Class B, and Hamilton Catholic and Findlay in Class A, have been tagged as the early favorites. But this stacks up as a tourney in which anything can happen. Middletown ran away with the title last year after being beaten six times, a poorer record than any team in this fracas has compiled.

Eaton looks as a husky foe for the Golden Horde of Glenford, since the only two clubs to defeat the Golden Eagles were Hamilton Catholic and Dayton Wilbur Wright, both Class A schools.

Anyway, they throw the record books away now—and any team which has battled its way this far is no worse than an even choice against the others.

MIDLAND GRADE QUINT EYES CROWN TONIGHT

Special To The Review.

MIDLAND, March 30—The championship of the Pittsburgh Diocese of the Catholic Grade School will be a stake tonight when the Presentation passers of Midland square off against the St. Paul's cagers of Butler. A preliminary is slated for 6:30 with the championship game carded for 7:30.

To reach the championship battle, the local quintet marched through an undefeated season to win the Beaver Valley title and then eliminated Nativity of North Side, Pittsburgh, Mt. Plesant and St. George.

Following the game at the High School gym, Rev. Fr. Thomas Quigley of Pittsburgh, superintendent of Parochial Schools, will present the trophy to the champions.

COOK, CLINE COMBINE WINS DOUBLES TITLE

Ralph Cook and Vic Cline teamed Monday night to win the National Bowling League doubles at the Del-Ray alleys by blasting a total of 1,233 pins.

Second place was won by Ray Early-Ike Shannon combine with 1,194 and third went to Frank Kerr and Frank Davis, who knocked over 1,191.

Johnny Higgins and Don Schreckengost came in fourth with 1,189 total.

Cook and Cline had games of 421, 407 and 405. High individual game among the leaders was scored by Shannon and Early with a 441.

Ross Joins Legion

NEW YORK, March 30—Barney Ross, former boxing champion and Marine Corps hero, has joined the George Washington Legion, an organization of American volunteers recruited to fight for the Jewish state in the Holy Land.

BENGAL DIAMOND CANDIDATES OUT

Six Veterans Back; To Open 10-Game Card April 8

Although Coach Ralph Lutz has had his Wellsville High School baseball squad outside only twice, eight of the nine positions already appear to be set.

The "hot corner" is the only spot that is troubling the Orange and Black mentor, who said he might switch Catcher Jack Stout to that post if Carl Payne fills the backing up slot adequately. Stout is a letterman.

Tommy Piatt, fast ball pitcher, again will be the ace of the mound corps, but he will be ably assisted by Cy Hayes who flipped a pair of no-hitters in the Junior circuit last summer, and Jack O'Rourke. Hayes is the only left hander.

Other veterans back are Bill McDonald at first, Henry Thurman at second and Chuck Allison and Bob Brown in the outfield.

Earl Betz has the inside track on the shortstop spot and Bob Bingham will handle the other hole in the outer garden.

Other outstanding candidates for infield posts are Bob Donaldson at first, Carl Mick at second and Clyde Moore at third. Ron Price and Ron Heaton are looking good as outfielders.

Danny Saint is a good looking hurling and infield prospect and Jim Stanford and Jim Furniss have been showing up well as fly chasers.

The Bengals will open a 10-game schedule April 8 at Newell. Home-and-home games have been scheduled with Newell, Chester, East Liverpool, Steubenville and Toronto.

Potters Drill Thursday

Coach Roy Hodge announced today his East Liverpool High School baseball squad will practice Thursday morning at 9:30 at Patterson Field if the diamond there is in shape. If it's too wet, he said, we'll practice at the Y-Vodrey lot on Bradshaw Ave.

Youngstown Trails

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 30—Columbus can grab playoff honors in the All-American Pro Basketball League by beating Youngstown here tonight. The Mariners moved within one victory of the playoff title last night at Dayton by thumping Youngstown, 52-43. That gave Columbus a 2-1 edge in the best-of-five series.

Betts Awarded Trophy As Potters' Outstanding Player

Scarry Advises College Education For Athletes

By BOB SHAFFER, The Review Sports Editor

Jack Betts, East Liverpool High School's center who was voted honorable mention on both the Associated Press and International News Service All-Ohio teams and to the first All-Easern Ohio quintet, was awarded the Hi-Y Memorial trophy as the outstanding senior member of the varsity squad Monday night at the third annual banquet sponsored jointly by the Kiwanis Club and the High School Athletic Association staged at the Travelers Hotel.

The trophy, the third to be awarded, was presented by Carl A. Werner, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., in the presence of varsity, reserve and freshman players, coaches, Kiwanians and special guests.

In making the presentation Mr. Werner explained the trophy is awarded by the club in memory of the East Liverpool athletes who gave their lives in the service.

"Five points", he explained, "are taken into consideration by the committee in selecting the outstanding player. They are ability, character, sportsmanship, scholarship and leadership."

Mr. Werner presented the trophy to the senior star as Walt Ashbaugh, last year's award winner and now a freshman at Cornell University, looked on. Walt, home for Easter vacation, was a guest. Jim Harris won the trophy in 1946, the first year it was awarded.

Other highlights of the affair were the awarding of varsity letters by Coach Merrill Hall, reserve letters by Reserve Coach Harold Leffler, the introduction of school officials by Chairman Wayne Paulson and the principal talk of the evening by Michael "Moe" Scarry, head football and basketball coach of Western Reserve University and former All-American Conference center of the Cleveland Browns.

Brief remarks of commendation for the squad, the coaching staff and Faculty Manager Nate Lorah, were brought by Principal Ralph Betts and Supt. W. G. Fordyce.

Coach Hall awarded nine varsity letters to five seniors and four juniors, and said:

"They stepped into a tough spot. We had been to the state finals two straight years, but it didn't worry these boys. They gave all they had. They were hard workers, and never gave up.

"They had a tougher schedule than the 1946 and 1947 teams, but when the season was over they were a credit to the community, to the school and to me. Their sportsmanship was unexcelled, and they were complimented for it by every school we played."

The Potter coach also praised the cheerleaders for their untiring efforts in keeping the morale of the squad at a high level, and he lauded the sportsmanship shown by Salem's great star, Bob Pager, and the Martins Ferry team after it defeated the Potters in the district tournament.

In behalf of the varsity squad, Jack Betts presented Coach Hall with a gift as "a token for the squad's appreciation of a job well done".

Seniors to receive varsity letters were Ed Vocial, Jim Burbick, Art Cowsert, Phil Doak and Betts, and juniors were Herb Crawford, Bill Larkins, Frank Chan and Jim Jenkins.

Robert Little, manager, also received a varsity "L", as did little Gus Dauka, the squad's mascot for the last three seasons.

Cheerleaders receiving varsity letters were Pat Parsons, Mary Ann Pusateri, Carol Manes, Mary Landfried, Laura Price and Mary Catherine Baxter.

Coach Leffler also commended his squad for its fine comeback after a slow start and awarded the following letters:

Coach Hall also introduced the following players on the freshman squad:

Norman Berman, Harry Shields, Michael Chan, Lee Maltarich, James Czech, Dan Skaleski, Robert Sullivan, William Morgan, William White, Ted Parker, William O'Farrell, George Pierson and Managers Dale Kidd and Donald Brown. John Rayz, freshman coach, was unable to be present.

Reserve cheerleaders introduced by Coach Hall were Joie Conner, Aileen Lynch, Barbara Yost and Mary Brandon.

Interspersing his remarks with humorous incidents that occurred during his career as a college and a professional athlete, Coach Scarry gave an entertaining but factual talk on "Sports, And What You Can Do With Them".

"It's alright, he said, "to be a big shot in sports, but your press clipping won't make you a living."

Pointing his remarks to the players, the Reserve coach advised that "it is smart to have an education, a background, something to fall back on once your days as athletes are over".

He explained that since the war, this country has been passing through an era of sports unequalized in history, and that today the opportunities for good, intelligent athletes innumerable, and gave scholarships as offered by colleges as a prime example. He compared the opportunities of today with those of past years when scholarships weren't offered.

"You get out of a college education just what you put into it", he continued, and then turned to professional sports and how many athletes quit school after a year or two to turn to pro sports only to wind up as "athletic bums".

"That", he said, "was in the days when professional sports were in their infancy. Today it is different. Professional sports are an excellent opportunity for the athlete. It's good pay and a chance

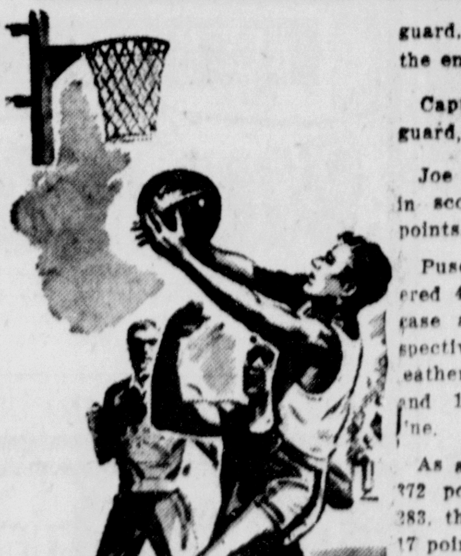
Pusey Wins Point Race With Wilson

SCORES 105 MARKERS FOR ELKS AS CARL GETS 103 (1928)



Five points and two points, respectively over and beyond the century mark, Tommy Pusey and Carl Wilson, the Elks' "pony express," qualify as the boss scorers of the local county amateur entry as the first half of the season comes to a close, which is logical in view of their places on the firing line.

By virtue of his two additional markers, or a total of 105, Pusey stands out as the premier point producer and Wilson, his running mate, is right on his heels with 103.

Pusey and Wilson are two of the four members of the squad who played in every game, Joe Canne, center, and Bus Crawford, guard, being the other pair. Next to this quartet in games played is "Chuck" McConville, guard, who figured in eight of the engagements.

Captain Smith Anderson, guard, took part in only five.

Joe Canne was third in line in scoring with a total of 88 points.

Pusey and Wilson each delivered 40 field goals to the Elks' case and 13 and 11 fouls, respectively. Canne caged the leather 39 times from scrimmage and 10 times from the free line.

As a team the Antlers scored 372 points to their opponents' 283, their lowest score was the 17 points they made in the first game of the season in losing to Salineville.

The scoring records follow:

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

An Eye-Opener Session To Get On Beam

TO STRAIGHTEN UP and fly right with this spring tonic course, get your bearings. While nobody's looking, take a three-dimensional survey of your silhouette in a full-length mirror, side view, sans girdle.

At first blush that bustle and bulge may appear to be a natural outcome of overweight. It really may be one curve compensating for another. If the upper back tends to round out, the lower back sinks in—hips jut out. This throws the weight of the internal organs against the abdominal wall with a compensating outcurve in front. You're off the beam!

Watch closely, centering the action on the middle muscles, draw yourself up to your full height. Here's the technique—pull firmly up and in with the abdominal muscles and snugly down and under the hip muscles. If hips slim down and stomach slims off as if by magic, then three-fourths of your figure faults stem from out-of-kilter posture.

YOU SEE, hip muscles are not just to sit on. These big muscles start at the top of the pelvis near the small of the back, and curve down. A firm down-pull with the buttock muscles keeps the pelvis pushed forward directly under the figure. Then the up-pull with the abdominal muscles puts your figure in perfect alignment. The hip joint is directly in line with the shoulder girdle and in correct line-up with the ankle joint. You're on the beam!

In good posture you have a pretty nice figure! Fine—let's make it for keeps. The first step is merely to want to stand beautifully, the second is to get the "feel" of good posture and the third is to put a bit of stiffening in the middle muscles.

Position: Standing feet together, arms raised overhead, fingers interlocked.

Movement: Turn palms upward and pull your figure out of the dumps—up! Start the pull with the lower abdominal muscles—pull up, tuck hips under snugly, raise the chest, lift the head. That's good posture. How does it feel? Do this simple stretch three times each morning—to start off on the right foot.

—:—

IF YOU'RE uncertain about your posture line-up, try this test.

Position: Lie on back on floor, legs straight down, arms down at sides. See if you can pull the small of the back in to make contact with the floor. Then raise arms up and back overhead touching the entire arm to the floor. Inability to touch arms to floor indicates rounded shoulders. Practice backward arm-circling patterned after the back-stroke of swimming—it will straighten you out beautifully.

If you can't get the small of the back to the floor, that's swayback. To reduce that in-curve, tone the front abdominal muscles. We'll go to work on these middle muscles tomorrow.

Get on the beam.

KOPPERS WILL ERECT SYNTHETIC OIL PLANT

By The United Press.

WASHINGTON, March 30—The government announced yesterday that it has awarded a $4,418,250 contract to a Pittsburgh company for construction of a synthetic oil plant. The contract went to the Koppers Co., Inc.

The plant will be built at Louisiana, Mo. It is the third and last planned under the sythentic liquid fuels research and development program of the Bureau of Mines.

Congress recently appropriated the money for the plant after hearing Secretary of Defense James Forrestal and Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug say this country must develop a substitute for dwindling petroleum supplies.

The plant is expected to be completed by September. It will turn out 80 barrels of oil and gasoline daily—one or the other of good grade.

The products will be made from coal, through a gas synthesis process that takes gas from coal and turns it into synthetic fuels.

Latest In 'Youngest' Race

MANSFIELD, O., March 30 — The near-by town of Butler (population 700) today entered the unofficial Youngest Mayor In Ohio Sweepstakes. It submitted the name of its mayor, 25-year-old Dory R. Swank, contending he is Ohio's youngest official of such rank.

2 IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my husband, Frank Lewis, who passed away 4 years ago today.

Gone, dear husband; gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed—
How sweet the memory still—
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill

Sadly missed by
Wife and Daughters.

Radio In Review

By JOHN CROSBY

Social Conscience At C.B.S.

THE SPIRIT of Henrik Ibsen seems to have come to rest rather surprisingly in the bosom of the Columbia Broadcasting System, a bit of soul transference that reminds me strongly of some of the more mystic dramas on C.B.S.' own program The Whistler. By means of its documentary unit, C.B.S. has been poking an angry social finger into juvenile delinquency, child care (this is Doorway To Life rather than a documentary), our slums, our medical malpractice, the treatment of our aged, and—the most recent one—our educational deficiencies.

The last documentary was called Report Card and differed in one important respect from all other documentaries in that not a single statistics was used during the hour-long broadcast. (I'm not sure even Ibsen could make such a boast.) Report Card was a dramatization of the unhappy experiences of a teacher named Andrew. In his first school the classrooms were so overcrowded the children on the fringes repeatedly were pushed into the steam pipes, the stairs so rickety that students were seriously hurt.

IN THE second school, the history books were of 1915 vintage, the work so poorly paid the teachers quit. The war intervened and Andrew in the Army encountered the end results of these inadequacies in our school system. Uneducated soldiers, he convinced himself, lacked initiative because they lacked confidence.

Right here I think the authors strained a little too hard. I don't want to make an issue of it, but it was my experience in the Army that the least confident soldiers were the overeducated rather than the other way around.

Ultimately, Andrew winds up in a community that takes great pride in its schools and is all steamed up about building a new million dollar edifice to take pride in. Andrew deflates a number of important egos by pointing out that lavish buildings don't necessarily mean good schools.

Nevertheless, the story has come full circle. Andrew's first peeve—the open steam pipes, the rickety stairs—have disappeared and the fact that he has discovered new dissatisfaction indicates progress has been made. I'm most sure this is the message the broadcast intended to convey. In fact, I have a feeling C.B.S. intended to draw a melancholy picture of our elementary school system and I feel a little apologetic about drawing such hopeful inferences. It just struck me that way, is all.

DOCUMENTARIES on schools, of which there have been a great many, are all rather broad and obvious dramas and this was no exception. Nevetheless, it was reasonably well written, very well acted and the production had that high C.B.S. finish on it.

While on the subject, I'd like to say a word or two about another C.B.S. documentary broadcast some months back called Fear Begins At Forty. This one dipped scarifyingly into the problem of old age and was in all respects a more engrossing broadcast because most of us know much less about old age than we do about schools.

It was a dramatization of a young man named Eddie whose father was fired automatically when he was 60 years old. The broadcast traced the father's gradual disintegration under the pressure of idleness, the unhappy doubling up in Eddie's home, with all that implies, the brief, ecstatic reunion with work during the war and the immediate disillusion after it. Eddie's father winds up in a dismal boarding house, his mother in a rather appalling "home for the aged" and Eddie, who has lived so long with his parents' old age problem, realizes suddenly at the age of 40 it soon will be his problem too.

THE BROADCAST ended with an exhaustive, and presumably authoritative, criticism of the employment policies of many of our firms, our treatment of the aged, our old-age benefits and our medical ignorance on the subject of diseases of the aged. In case you think this is one of the lesser dilemmas of our time, it ought to be pointed out that there are nine million persons over the age of 65 in this country and two-thirds of them are dependent on their children.

C.B.S. has not discovered much new in any of these socially significant dramas. It merely is using its superb educational powers to bring them to the attention of the public. There is a rather large question in my mind as to whether they are succeeding.

I don't know the Hooper rating of either of these two documentaries, but it was undoubtedly a lot lower than, say, Eddie Cantor on any Tuesday night. The public, I'm willing to bet, stayed away in droves and prominent among the droves were some of radio's severest critics, who very possibly were too busy discussing how little radio does in the line of education to listen.

LONGEVITY PAY BOOST FIXED FOR GUARDSMEN

By International News Service.

COLUMBUS, March 30—Previous service in any of the armed forces now nets National Guardsmen longevity pay allowance for their weekly two-hour training period, Adjt. Gen. C. N. Goble announced yesterday.

The new allowance, provided in a bill signed by President Truman yesterday, is based at the rate of 5 cent Army base pay for each three years' regular service.

Gen. Goble says 30 per cent of the 9,264 Ohio National Guardsmen are veterans and a large number of these will be eligible for longevity credit. Guardsmen re-enlisting after a three-year enlistment period automatically will receive the longevity pay increase.

Before World War II, the Far East exported a net of 4,250,000 tons of foodstuffs, but in 1947 it was a net importer of 6,500,000 tons.

U.S. WARNED OIL WILL DISAPPEAR

Official Sees Importation Of Million Barrels Daily

By The United Press.

CLEVELAND, March 30—In seven years oil surpluses in the western Hemishpere will have disappeared and the United States will be forced to import one million barrels a day from the Middle East, S. A. Swensrud, executive vice-president of the Gulf Oil Corp., said yesterday.

He told the Cleveland Petroleum Club that oil has become one of the "vital concerns" of this nation.

"So far as the United States is concerned, by 1951 it most likely will have to receive more than a half a million barrels a day net imports from the outside. And by 1955, it probably will need upwards of a million barrels daily.

"Around half of this we can expect from South America—the rest, in all probability, will have to come from the Middle East," Mr. Swensrud said.

He said "staggering costs" will make production of oil from gas, coal or shale impractical.

"So far as the United States is concerned, the best production authorities in the industry agree this country will be doing well to maintain its present level of crude production," he said.

To maintain that level, he said, will require new discoveries of about two billion barrels a year. Mr. Swensrud said some authorities even doubt that the United States can hold the present level of oil production for 10 years.

NO CIGARETTE HANGOVER

when you smoke PHILIP MORRIS!

_because PHILIP MORRIS is

DEFINITELY LESS IRRITATING

than any other leading brand!

All over America, smokers who have changed to PHILIP MORRIS tell us . . . they now enjoy a cleaner smoke, a fresher, milder smoke than they've ever known before.

Yes, there's a difference in PHILIP MORRIS that distinguishes it from all other leading brands!

If you're tired of "cigarette hangover"—that stale, musty taste in your mouth—that dry, smoked-out feeling in your throat . . . join the millions who CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS.

Remember . . . Of all leading cigarettes, PHILIP MORRIS—and only PHILIP MORRIS—is recognized by eminent nose and throat specialists as definitely less irritating!

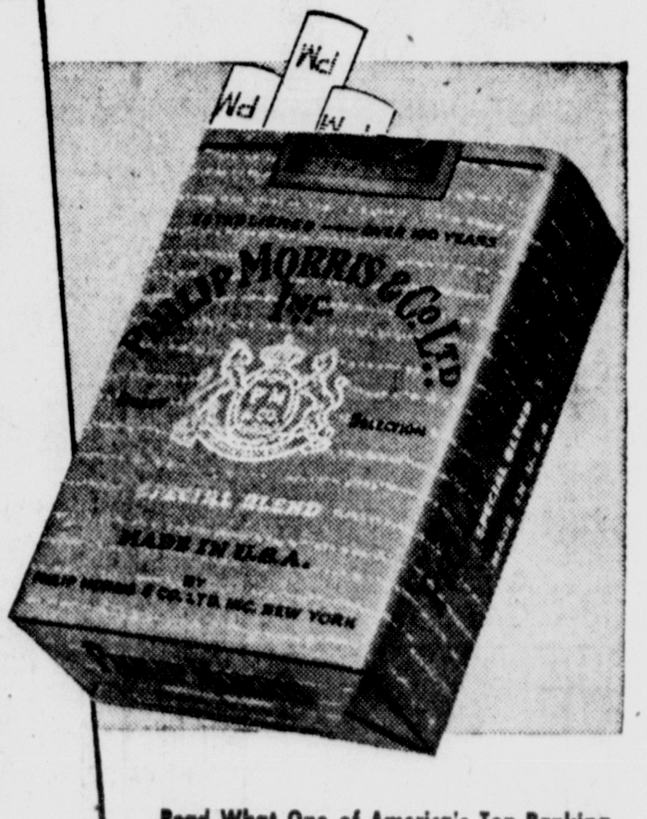
NO OTHER CIGARETTE CAN MAKE THAT STATEMENT!



Read What One of America's Top-Ranking Doctors Says About PHILIP MORRIS

"I have often suggested to patients who smoke that they change to PHILIP MORRIS. I have seen the results of such a change—and the results have convinced me that PHILIP MORRIS Cigarettes are less irritating than the other brands."

FROM ONE OF A SERIES OF PROFESSIONAL STATEMENTS BY EMINENT NOSE AND THROAT SPECIALISTS.

CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS

You'll be glad TOMORROW—you smoked PHILIP MORRIS TODAY!
